A BOLD ROBBERY!

It Occurred at Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, Monday.

ROBBERS SECURED ALMOST $4.000

Taken from Office of Park Transportation Company at Belmont—Employees Tightly Bound—For This Purpose Wire Was Used.

THE THIEVES WERE HEAVILY ARMED

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—A gang of masked robbers, probably ten in number, early yesterday morning raided the receiving office of the Fairmount Park Transportation company, at Belmont, in Fairmount park, and, after holding up the receiver and other employes of the railway, blew open the safe, securing $4,000, the company's receipts for two days.

Frank Levan, receiver; Frank Watson and Henry B. Whitehouse, conductors; James Cavanaugh, chairman of the power house; Philip Eaves, electrician, and William Cadmus, laborer, were bound hand and foot with wire.

In addition to the men who actually committed the robbery, others operated miles away from the scene by destroying the telegraph and telephone wires connecting with the trolley company's main office.

The Fairmount Transportation company operates various lines of trolley cars through the park for pleasure riders. The traffic being unusually heavy on Saturdays and Sundays, the robbers evidently decided upon yesterday morning as being a good time to make a big haul.

The men above named were all in the office when the burglars made their appearance. Each intruder was armed with two revolvers and they took the employes completely by surprise. It was the work of a few moments for the robbers to pinion the workmen, who were rolled over to one side of the room, with their faces to the wall. Ten minutes later the safe had been cracked and the gang disappeared. The entire city detective force are on the case, but the cracksmen left no clue.

Peter Duffield and Charles Smith, who say they live in Newark, N. J., and Albert Leeds, of Philadelphia, were arrested in Fairmount Park on suspicion of being connected with the robbery.

Charles A. Porter, president of the Fairmount Park Transportation company last evening said that the clerks had made an examination of the books and found that the exact amount of money stolen was $3,356.47. This was the cash in the conductors' canvass bags, which had been handed in as each car came into the barn.

"There is every reason to believe that some former employes of the transportation company were implicated in the robbery," said Mr. Porter. "We have been compelled to hire men of whom we know little. The familiarity of the robbers with the methods pursued by the company shows that they were not ignorant outsiders. It is my opinion that expert cracksmen have gained the ear of some of our discharged employes and in that way the conspiracy was hatched and carried to a successful outcome."

Annual Commencement.

The annual commencement exercises of the Lock Haven State Normal school will be held next week. The following is the programme.

Sunday, June 25, 8 p. m.—Baccalaureate Sermon by Rev. John S. Stahr, D. D., President Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.

Monday, June 26, 8 p. m.—Elocutionary contest. Gold medals.

Tuesday, June 27, a. m. and p. m.—Field day.

Tuesday, June 27, 8 p. m.—Alumni Literary exercises.

Wednesday, June 28, 7:45 p. m.—Twenty-second annual commencement. Address to graduating class by Hon. Henry Houck, Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, Pa.

The Board of Trustees and the Faculty extend to the public a cordial invitation to be present.

The cabled statement that Hon. Bellamy Storer, our Minister to Spain, was received at the Madrid railway station by the Chief of police, was liable to be misconstrued. Criminals are given that sort of reception over here.

No one man can possibly be the whole thing, no matter how successful he may be either in politics or business, or both Somebody should whisper that fact to Gov. Pingree; he seems to have forgotten it.

THE BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.

Closed the Most Successful Year In its History, Friday June 16th.

Perhaps the most successful year from every point of view that the Bellefonte Academy has ever experienced was the one ended on Friday, June 16th. One hundred and ten students wended their way to and from the school on the hill during the past months, an increase of nearly twenty over the attendance last year. Not only was the number of students greater, but the faculty was larger as well, every student receiving that careful and thorough individual instruction which has placed so many of the Academy students in the honor groups of the colleges which they have attended. The advanced requirements for admission to our colleges today have raised the standard of preparatory education and hence more teachers and better facilities have been the logical outcome. We are glad that the Academy can, in a measure boast of meeting both of these conditions.

The examinations were held at the Academy as follows: on Monday in the Mathematical department conducted by Rev. J. P. Hughes; on Tuesday in the Primary department under the care of Miss Overton and Miss Marie Meek; and in the assistant mathematical department conducted by Jas. G. Wright; on Thursday in the English department in charge of Miss Julia Reed. On Friday the examinations in the classes in conjunction with the Princeton examinations which are held here annually were conducted and superintended by J. R. Hughes. The result of the examinations was very flattering to all interested. The graduating class will be distributed as follows: John Decker, Walter Woods and Ralph Cummings will enter the Freshman class of State College, while Irvin and Wayne Thompson and Willis Sellers will enter the sub Freshman class at the same institution. Wilson Gephart and Clarence Garbrick will enter Princeton and Miss Anna McCoy is thinking of attending Bryn Mawr, Miss Edna Rowe goes to Baltimore to attend college there. Misses Beck, Isabella Shaffer and Albert Poorman successfully passed their teachers' examinations and will likely be found teaching the young ideas to shoot during the coming winter months. Others not mentioned here may possibly take up business vocations.

The one regret of the year sorely felt by the principals, teachers and every friend and patron and student of the Academy is that Miss Reed, whose faithful and successful efforts during the past fourteen years have contributed so largely to elevating the Academy to the high standard of work which is its pride today, finds it necessary to retire from the faculty and take up lighter duties in other quarters. While all who know Miss Reed regret exceedingly that her usefulness must terminate here for a period, at least, it is somewhat of a consolation to know that her successor, Miss Alice Lawrence, of Vineland, N. J., a woman trained thoroughly for her work of teaching, and a graduate of Cornell University, will come to Bellefonte with most beautiful and flattering testimonials of her Christian character and her ability and success as a teacher and disciplinarian.

Wake Up Board of Trade.

Here is an opportunity for the Bellefonte board of trade to do something. An air-brake company desires to locate their factory either at Bellefonte or Altoona. An effort should be made on our part to bring this industry here. The following clipping is from the Altoona correspondent to the Williamsport Grit.

The Board of trade will in a few days meet the directors of a new Air-Brake Manufacturing company with a view to having the works of the Company located in this city. The air-brake people assert that their brake is in many respects superior to any other brake now made, not excluding the world famed Westinghouse brake. The works of this company will go to either Bellefonte or this city, with the chances in favor of Altoona. All the money necessary to start the plant is available any time.

Will Protect the Merchants.

Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, has signed the bill which requires transient retail merchants in boroughs to pay a license of not less than $25 nor more than $200 a month; the amount to be taxed by council. In townships the license for such dealers will be $25 a month and is made payable to the county treasurer for the use of the school funds of that township. The act requires that all licenses must be renewed monthly. There is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $200 for failure to obtain the license.

A HAVANA MYSTERY!

WAS KILLED WITH A HATCHET

Cuban Soldiers Rushing to Secure the Money Being Paid Out by the Americans.

OTHER INTERESTING CUBAN NEWS

HAVANA, June 19.—The local papers yesterday devote considerable space to the murder of Minnie Ross, who was killed with the blunt end of a hatchet after being choked, and was ound dead early Saturday morning. It was first reported that a well-known army officer was involved, but the uniform found in the room of Fred Krause, now in custody on the charge of being the murderer, is undoubtedly one formerly worn by him. Krause was at one time a lieutenant of the Florida volunteers. He is said to be a member of a wealthy Tampa family.

Thus far there is but little evidence against him. Many believe, from the nature of the crime, that it was committed by a woman. One theory is that the blow with the hatchet was not immediately fatal and that the victim was then choked to death. Robbery could scarcely have been the motive, for the police found $2,500 in the murdered woman's room, and a quantity of valuable jewelry on her dressing table.

Another theory is that the authorities, having received definite information that the woman had been paying money to someone connected with the police department, had sent an agent to ascertain the name of the guilty official. This agent, it is thought, had threatened her that unless she disclosed the man's name her house would be closed. She, as this theory goes, refused to give it, despite the protection of the blackmailer. The government agent left the house after midnight, according to this explanation of the crime, and it is supposed that she afterwards had an interview with the blackmailer, with the result that he killed her.

The friends of Krause bitterly complain of the incommunicado system, which is rigorously enforced in his case. Thus far neither his friends nor legal counsel have been allowed to see him.

The work of disbursing the American gratuity to the Cuban troops continues at Cardenas, Remedios, Pinar del Rio and Puerto Principe. The Cubans are flocking to the distributing centres, asserting that it was only by accident that they heard they were to receive American money. The palpable evidence of fraud in making up the lists is arousing popular indignation throughout the island, and the evident desire of the Americans to carry out their pledges excites general admiration. The Cubans say this is the first time in their history when a government promise has been kept, and that they have never before experienced such considerate treatment from government representatives.

The papers that represent the members of the former Military Assembly continue their disparaging allusions to Senior Quesada, the special representative of Cuba in Washington. They characterize the appointment as a "direct slap in the face" from President McKinley. The Gomez party, on the other hand, say that the President's choice in this matter is another illustration of his excellent judgement."

Undine Picnic and Bicycle Meet.

The Undines are making great preparations for their big picnic at Hecla Park on July 4th. The State College, Zion and Undine bands will be present to furnish the music. There will be a big display of fireworks in the evening.

DeWit Brothers of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who are making a business of holding bicycle races in different cities in New York state and Pennsylvania have made arrangments with the Undine Steam Fire Engine Company, No 2 and Undine band to manage the large bicycle race meet at Hecla Park on July 4th. A long list of events have been scheduled for the day set. The prizes all consist of diamonds to be in ring settings which will bring the very fastest racing men in the state to compete on July 4th. The managers who are Dewit brothers of Wilkesbarre, Pa., are thoroughly competent racing men and will be on hand to see that the sport will be fairly and honestly conducted.

A June Wedding.

From the Philipsburg Ledger we glean the following facts concerning the wedding of Townsend Moran and Miss Katherine Tyson, both of Philipsburg, but formerly of Bellefonte.

The home of Mrs. Eliza Tyson on South Front street was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday evening June 14th, at 5 o'clock, when her younger daughter, Katherine, became the wife of Townsend S. Moran, the only son of Mrs. Mary S. Burchfield.

This is the second delightful affair of this kind that has been celebrated in that home this spring, and the bride of a couple of months back, Mrs. Wilbur B. Brown, played the wedding march to which the bridal party entered the parlor, where about half a hundred guests were assembled. The bride wore a dainty gown of sheer white, very becoming to her brunette style, and carried a boquet of cream roses. Her attendants were Misses Ada McCullough and Lizzie Feistal. The first named also wore white, while the latter was gowned in a beautiful shade of blue. Frank Dunkle was the groom's best man. Rev. Bright, the pastor of the young couple, pronounced the brief ceremony which made them one, after which they received the congratulations of the guests.

The parlor was beautifully decorated in pink and white, great masses of laurel and pale pink peonies transforming the room into a veritable bower of beauty.

The wedding supper was served in the sitting and dining rooms. The bridal party were seated in the sitting room, where ferns and daisies were the decorations.

The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Moran took the 7:10 train for an extended bridal tour, which will include Geneva, Clifton Springs, Niagara Falls and a visit to Canada. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping at Ramey, where the young husband's occupation makes it necessary for them to live. They are both Philipsburgers bred, if not born, and are highly esteemed by all who know them. Mr. Moran is a valued employe of the A. & P. C. railroad, and is a general favorite with old and young, while his bride is a lovely girl, who will be a helpmeet in the truest sense of the word, being skilled in all womanly accomplishments. They take with them to their new home the good wishes of all for a life of unbroken sunshine.

Michigan's Eccentric Governor.

LANSING, Mich., June 19.—Governor Pingree marked the final day of the Legislative session by sending in vetoes of the beet sugar bounty bill and the appropriation of $40,000 for a State building and display at the Buffalo exposition. In his messages he said:

"The Legislature has passed no laws to equalize the burden of taxation and make corporate and other property pay its share of taxes. It was elected for the purpose of passing laws to equalize assessments and taxes, and to make railroads and other corporations pay as much taxes in proportion as the farmer and other small property owners. It has failed utterly to carry out the wish of the people in this respect. The effort seems to have been made to appropriate as much money as possible out of all proportion to the present income of the State and to stifle all measures framed to make the tax dodger bear his and its share of the increased expense."

Governor Pingree strongly attacked the Senate because bills for taxing railroads and other corporations in like manner with other property still repose in Senate committees. He added: "The Republican party in convention, by its platform, unanimously pledged and the people indorsed reforms in taxation, not one of which has been fulfilled. Such violations of faith are sometimes as dangerous to parties as to individuals."

As to the Buffalo appropriation, the Governor said: "If this Republican Legislature cannot afford to make the pay of Michigan's volunteers in the Spanish American war at least $1 per day, it certainly should not tax the soldier's modest home for the purpose of raising a fund to enable tax dodgers to exhibit their wares in a neighboring State."

A GRAND SOCIAL SUCCESS.

Was the Academy Tea and Assembly Held Tuesday Evening.

FITTING CLOSE TO SCHOOL TERM

From 5:30 to 7:30 the Friends of this Popular School Were Entertained at Tea at the Historic Academy—Festivities Close With Grand Ball in the Armory.

IT WAS A MOST AUSPICIOUS OCCASION

On last Friday the Bellefonte Academy of which our citizens are justly proud closed one of the most successful seasons in the history of that popular institution of learning. In lieu of any regular commencement exercises it was decided by the students and alumni that a grand social event should mark the end of the years work.

With this idea in view the following committee was appointed, Messrs. Wilson W. Gephart, J. K. Palmer, Frederick D. Blanchard, Edward M. Miller and Edward L. Hoy, and to their untiring efforts the great success of the affair was due.

From 5:30 to 7:30 in the evening the school on the hill was the scene of most brilliant festivities. The rooms were beautifully decorated, and handsomely dressed ladies served the guests with tea, while Chappells famous orchestra from Williamsport discoursed most delightful music.

The reception committee was composed of the following named ladies: Miss Reed, Miss Overton, Mrs. Isaac Mitchell, Mrs. Wm Laurie and Miss Mila Humes. The tea table was gracefully presided over by Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, Mrs. John McCoy Shugert and Miss Marie Meek. Everyone was made to feel perfectly at home. Prof. J. P. Hughes and his son James R. gave you a cordial welcome and hearty shake of the hand. Altogether it proved one of the pleasantest social functions held in Bellefonte for sometime.

Last but not least on the programme was the grand assembly given in the armory. The large hall was magnificently decorated for the occasion and the scene presented when the ball was at its height was indeed a brilliant one. Elegant refreshments consisting of coffee, ice cream, sandwiches etc., were served the guests. Here as at the tea the music was furnished by Chappells orchestra and was of the highest order.

The patronesses were Mrs. Daniel H. Hastings, Mrs. J. Wesley Gephart, Mrs. Joseph L. Montgomery, Mrs. L. T. Munson, Mrs. John M. Dale, Mrs. Thos. A. Shoemaker, Mrs. Geo. L. Potter, Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, Mrs. Harry R. Curtin, Mrs. John McCoy Shugert, Mrs. John P. Sebring, jr., Mrs. Frank Warfield and Mrs. Harry Keller.

"Cal Pownell" Will Lead the Meeting

On Sunday afternoon at four o'clock a union gospel meeting will be held in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association. It is called a Railroad Men's meeting and will be led by one of their men, "Cal Pownell," the converted railroad engineer. It is said this man has proven himself to be a wonderful instrument in God's hands in saving railroad men. His manner and way of delivery are very much like those of "Billy Moore." The citizens of the town are cordially invited to this meeting.

—David Dorman, aged 14 years, of Welkert Run, was run over by a train Wednesday June 14th and his head was severed from the body.

—An exchange gives the following, which, if true, is worth remembering: Submerge a common ten-inch flower-pot in water and let it become saturated. Fit a cork in the hole at the bottom of the jar so as to exclude the air, and by putting the vessel over a plate of butter on the cellar bottom it will keep the butter as nicely as an ice chest.

—The jury in the damage suit of John Veos vs. the Patton coal company, at Ebensburg Saturday night brought in a verdict for the plantiff of $2,070. Veos had a leg torn to pieces by an "iron man" in the mines at Patton while operating the machine against his wish at the order of the mine boss.

"ALL THE WHILE."

We may make new homes in countries
Far across the azure sea,
And the paths that know our footsteps
In a fairer land may be;
But though scenes of rarer beauty
May our wistful eyes beguile—
There'll be no home like the old home
That we cherish all the while!

As we wander through the wide world,
Seeking fortune, friends, and fame,
Many hands will reach to grasp ours,
Many lips will speak our name;
But of all the kindly faces
That for us will wear a smile,
There'll be no friend like the old friend,
That has loved us all the while!

Other hearts will learn to love us,
Making sunshine on our way,
Tender links of new affections
Will enchain us day by day;
But as onward still we journey,
Growing wearier mile by mile,
There'll be no love like the old love,
That has blest us all the while.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN KRAMER.

Died Very Suddenly While Visiting her Son Charles of this Place.

Mary Ann Kramer, wife of John Kramer, of Aaronsburg, died very suddenly Saturday morning at 5:30 o'clock while on a visit to her son Charles Kramer of Willowbank street, this place.

Mrs. Kramer retired Friday evening apparently as well as ever and was not taken sick until about 5 o'clock next morning. A doctor was at once sent for but inside of a half hour she quietly passed away. Death was believed to be due to asthma and heart failure combined. She had been visiting here for the past two weeks.

Deceased was born in South Williamsport, June 23rd 1821, and her age at time of death was 77 years 11 months and 27 days. Her maiden name was Mary Ann Rickard. On August 21st 1849 she was united in marriage to John Kramer and for many years past they have led a happy wedded life at Aaronsburg, Centre county. Her husband survives her with the following children: Monroe and Charles, of Bellefonte; William, of Williamsport; Mrs. Will Ocker, of Aaronsburg; and Mrs. David Boyer, of Mifflinburg.

Mrs. Kramer was a kindly, christian lady, a member of the Lutheran church for many years. Her children speak in the highest terms of her many good qualities as a loving and thoughtful mother, and they certainly have the sympathy of all in their great loss.

The remains were taken to Aaronsburg Saturday afternoon where the interment was made Million From the Klondike.

TACOMA, Wash., June 19.—The steamer City of Tacoma passed Port Towsend Friday, bound for Tacoma, with 200 Klondikers, who bring out $500.000 in gold dust and $500,000 in drafts as the first instalment of the spring clean-up.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 19.—Two hundred Klondikers arrived here Friday on the steamer City of Seattle. Collectively they had considerable gold dust, but their estimates of the total amount varied greatly. Purser Pope said: "About $400,000 in actual dust is a conservative estimate I think, I had about $250,000 placed in my care." Several passengers carried drafts, but no authoritative estimate can be made of the total amount. One man was said to have one for $80,000.

SKAGWAY, June 19.—A large amount of gold dust and nuggets was landed at White Horse Rapids Friday, June 9, from the first three steamers to reach that point from Dawson City. Over one ton of it was officially checked off by the officers at White Horse when making the transfer from steamer to steamer. The remainder was divided in packages ranging from 10 to 75 pounds, carried by the more than 300 passengers of the three boats. They were in all sorts of odd packages, and made no attempt at concealment.

Awesome Trees.

We made a side trip to the big trees of the Mariposa group, which are about one hours' ride from the hotel, says a correspondent. If the smallest of these trees could be planted anywhere in Pennsylvania the railroads would run excursion trains to it and make money. The trees in this grove are so large that it takes a good while to fully appreciate the facts about the size of the biggest of them. The "Grizzly Giant" is 34 feet through at the base and over 300 feet high. This tree would overtop the spires on the Pittsburg Cathedral by about 100 feet. The trunk of this tree is 100 feet clear to the first limb, which is 20 feet in circumference. Many other trees here are nearly as large as this one and there are 400 in the grove. Through several tunnels have been cut, and a four horse stage can go through these tunnels on the run and never graze a hub. You get an approach to an adequate idea of their size by walking off a hundred yards or so while the stage is standing at the foot of a tree and glancing from top to bottom keeping the stage in mind as a means of comparison. The stage and horses look like the little tin outfit that Santa Claus brought you when you were a good little boy.

These trees are no longer to be called the largest in the world, however. A species of eucalyptus has been found in Australia as large or larger. Emerson warns us against the use of the superlative, but when you are in this region of the globe you can't get along without a liberal use of it. He himself says of Yosemite: "It is the only spot I have ever found that came up to the brag." And as I stood in the big tree grove I remembered that some one called Emerson himself "the Sequoia of the human race."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Deafness Cannot be Cured,

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous linings of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Graduated Income Tax.

Michigan is about to engage in the effort to support the State Government by a tax levied upon the incomes of its citizens. This form of taxation is popular with all those who have an income below the limit of taxation, and is correspondingly disliked by such as fall within the number of those who are assessed.

The Michigan law applies to all incomes above the sum of $1000, and all between that amount and $2500 pay one-quarter of 1 per cent.; above that sum and below $5000, one-half of 1 per cent., and 1 per cent. on all incomes of $5000 and over. So far as the tax is concerned, it must be admitted that it is small enough not to be severely burdensome. The objection to nearly all of this sort of legislation is that it provides for exemptions that should not be made. No one should be excused from payment of an income tax if such an expedient is necessary for the support o, the Government, State or national. The person who has an income of $10 a yea has exactly the same protection from the State as one whose receipts amount to millions, and he should be required to pay some per cent. of it however small. Saxony has, perhaps, the most simple income tax law in the world, for under it no one is exempt, and those with smallest revenues pay only a few cents annually but all pay something. Such a form of taxation has never been popular in this country, and no law has ever been in force that worked satisfactorily either to the people or to the Government. For this reason the experiment in Michigan, as a new departure in the methods of raising revenues for State purposes, will be watched with interest, especially since direct taxation has become an issue with political parties.—Chicago News.

Red Cross Work at Peace Conference

The Hague, June 16.—The Red Cross sub-committee of the peace conference met yesterday, Professor Asser, of the Dutch delegation, presiding. Professor Louis Renault, of the French delegation, explained that certain modifications had been made in the report, meeting the wishes expressed by his colleagues at the last session.

Captain Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., declared his readiness to support proposals submitted in a spirit of conciliation, though he considered they presented a lacune in regard to the position of shipwrecked men, picked up by vessels, finding themselves accidentally on the scene of a naval engagement. The sub-committee, however, considered that article 9 covered all eventualities.

Dr. Monoto Itchiro, of the Japanese delegation, announced that he proposed to submit a motion modifying article 6 of the Geneva convention, regarding the disposition of sick and wounded prisoners on the lines of the sub-committee's report, which leaves such disposition for the victors to decide.

The report being adopted, the president pointed out the advantage which would be gained if, during the conference, a convention could be signed embodying the important humanitarian articles comprised in the sub-committee's scheme.

On the motion of Baron de Bildt, the delegate of Norway and Sweden, it was decided the president should present to the conference such a convention, with a final article providing for the signature of protocols of adhesion thereto.

The committee will also recommend to the conference the revision of the Geneva convention of 1864.

Called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. When properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulent but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs only ¼ as much as coffee. 15 and 25c at grocers.

The Gold Brick Trade.

Not a month passes that the United States Treasurer and Superintendents of the Mints do not hear of a gold brick game having been successfully played. The victims almost invariably make their appearance at the mints and assay offices with their metallic bars carefully wrapped in Canton flannel and stowed away in a capacious gripsack. The experts are able to detect the fraudulent character of the bars at a glance, although in many cases they are cleverly plated with the genuine metal. The weight always gives them away, however. A week or two ago the purchaser of a noble gold brick about a yard long turned up at the Philadelphia mint, and the officials of that institution had a hard time convincing him that he had been swindled. To satisfy him, a number of gold bars were brought in, which, combined, were about the size of the ficticious chunk of plated iron. The fraudulent brick weighed about eighty pounds, while the real gold occupying the same space weighed over 200 pounds. To still further convince the victim, the bar was broken up and a portion of it pulverized. It was not until then that he would acknowledge that he had bought a bunch of experience for $9,000.

ODS AND ENDS.

The word "dad," as everyone knows, means father, but probably few of those people who use it knows that it is pure Welsh.

It is believed that the most ancient dictionary in the world is the Chinese lexicon, compiled by Pacut-she a thousand years before Christ.

The Advocate of India tells of a curious way of rejoicing. The Nawab of Rampore being blessed with a daughter, rejoicings were taking place in his state, and a week's pay was deducted from every state official in connection with the event.

A curious cargo is being brought over to Europe by a Portuguese ship, the Atlantico. It consists of a cargo of snakes. The species are not named, but they include boa-constrictors more than thirty feet long. One report says that all come from the Amazon river and its banks; but another that there are specimens from Africa and Asia, too. It is not quite evident why African and Asiatic snakes should travel to Brazil; but there is always a curious quality about snake stories. They are for exhibition by some snake charmers at the Paris exposition.

Wall paper does not hang, and yet the person whose business it is to paste it up is called a paper-hanger. The reason is simple. Long before the introduction of wall paper, Arras, a town in France, was famous for its tapestries called "Arras." These were used as wall coverings, and the men who were employed to put them up were called "hangers." When paper succeeded tapestry as a mural decoration the name "hangers" stuck to the men, though instead of being tapestry-hangers they were now paper-hangers.

Will Affect the Beech Creek.

The miners who are striking in the coal region in which the Beech Creek district of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad is the principal outlet, have lessened the traffic of the road considerably—in fact nearly one-half. The strikers are confined principally to the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad districts, whose coal the Beech Creek handle. But it is feared in this section that the miners in the Beech Creek district will go out, and in fact have threatened to. If they should it would reduce the traffic on the Beech Creek to mere nothing, and Jersey Shore would have a repetition of the summer of 1894, when a large strike was on in that region and the trainmen were idle for over four months, and no coal was hauled over the road during that time.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Sons of Veterans in Parade.

The Sons of Veterans at Hazleton Wednesday held their annual parade. Nearly a thousand men were in line. At the convention a debate was aroused over a motion to reduce the salaries of the quartermaster and the adjutant from $500 to $300 and $500 to $400 respectively. The motion was defeated. At the afternoon's session S. S. Horn, of Easton, was elected division commander, and W. B. McNulty, of Philadelphia, was re-elected quartermaster. Newcastle was selected for next years' encampment.

Hawaiian Political Parties.

First of all, that among white inhabitants there is really no serious division of opinion—political—in all Hawaii. On all important matters touching the welfare of the islands, the opinions of those, white and native, whose opinions really carry weight, are united. But human nature in Hawaii is the same as elsewhere, and therefore is mild disagreement that satisfies itself with gentle discussion at the club. In time, no doubt, Hawaii will have its Republican and Democratic parties, but at present the only party division at all discoverable is one based on pro and anti missionary leanings. And this is so indefinite it can hardly be dignified with name, and so misleading as to require explanation to the non-Hawaiian reader.

The anti-missionary element may be described as whites who more recently immigrated to Hawaii and are envious of the political and commercial pre-eminence of the early-settler descendants. The majority of this anti element comprises men of the smaller business interests—shopkeepers, clerks, few of whom have strong prejudices on the subject. The minority antis, the agitators, who do the talking at home and supply the newspapers abroad, are political aspirants from the mainland, and a few half-castes of vicious tendencies and irresponsibility.—Casper Whitney in Harper's Weekly.

Skeletons of Giants.

ST. PAUL, June 17.—Jose Herannda, a Mexican sheep herder, while rounding up horses in the Sweet Grass Hills, twenty miles north of Columbus, Minn., discovered a large cave, the opening of which has been concealed by heavy underbrush.

The cave, 70 feet in length, 35 feet in width, and 10 in height, was cut out of solid rock.

In the centre, lying side by sides were the well preserved skeletons of five human beings. These skeletons measure from 7 to 7½ feet in length.

Three knife blades, evidently made of hardened copper, two bowls hollowed out of granite blocks; two stone hammer heads and some broken fragments of pottery were also found in the cave.

A Strange Find.

While working in his garden Monday morning Henry Crouse, of Aaronsburg, struck with his hoe an article which upon examination proved to be a handsome, solid gold locket. Upon cleaning off the dirt it was bright and in good condition, excepting the wires in the hinge. It contains a photo of a man on one side and a woman on the other. Both faces are clear and distinct, but no one can remember any parties whom the pictures resemble. Both are dressed in neat but old fashioned clothing and they are strange to the oldest citizens of Aaronsburg. How long the locket has been in the garden is a mystery. Mr. Crouse has been residing there for thirty years or more and he thinks it must have been there before he took possession. It is a valuable as well as a most interesting find.—Millheim Journal.

Boxing Matches in New York.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Chief of Police Devery was catechised before the Mazet committee as to what he knew about boxing matches as they are conducted in New York. Devery said he had taken an interest in the sport and attended a number, but had seen no violation of the law. He did not know, he said, that money was charged for admission to the Jeffries Fitzimmons exhibition; he did not see any money paid for tickets of admission. (Under the Horton law boxing exhibitions may be given only before club members, the contestants being also members, and no fee may be charged.)

He exclaims the difference between Marquis of Queensbury and London prize ring rules. He would interfere in a fight under the London prize ring rules, but there was, he said, no brutality in bouts according to the Marquis of Queensbury rules. He had wanted to prevent the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons bout, but deferred to the wishes of the people, who took the opposite view.

Lockjaw Caused Death.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 16.—Frank A., 11-year-old son of John Eicher, of Eicher Bros., contractors died Thursday after nine days' suffering from lockjaw. On the evening of June 3 the Eicher boy, with a number of companions, drove their cows past where Main's show was being exhibited. The boys stopped, and it is said a drunken canvassman rushed out with an empty beer bottle. He hurled it at the boys and Eicher dodged. The bottle broke, however, and the frightened boy stepped on it, cutting one foot. In a short time lockjaw manifested itself.

Western Crop Prospect.

From information gathered by over 600 correspondents scattered throughout Nebraska, Iowa, Northern Kansas, Northern Missouri and Northeastern Colorado the indications are that winter wheat has suffered from winter kill enough to affect the yield at least one-half. The other crops are reported late and in normal condition, with the exception of a heavy growth of weeds, consequent upon the recent heavy rains.

For a newspaper to get itself classed as "yellow" by intelligent readers is equivalent to putting up a sign, "if we print it, it isn't true."

Mayor Sam Jones, of Toledo, was not mincing matters when he said the other day: "Hannaism, Plattism, Crokerism and bossism are all the same."

Thousands of sick and suffering people are like the poor cripple in the Bible, who had no one to help him down to the life-giving pool before some one else slipped in ahead of him. So many sufferers feel that if they could only get a little help to overcome their extreme weakness they would then be able to regain their coveted health and strength.

It is just these people that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is designed to aid. It is the strong, helping hand for those who are in the extreme of bodily weakness and nervous exhaustion. It promptly tones, nourishes and builds up the entire system. It gives keen appetite, good digestion, pure blood, muscular strength, nerve-force and renewed activity.

"When I first wrote you I was completely discouraged," says Mrs. W. M. Satterly, living at Richford, Tioga Co., N. Y. (P. O. Box 40), in a letter to Dr. Pierce. "I was in pain all the time, could not lie in bed on account of severe, sharp cutting pains in my back and right hip. Had pain all through the lower part of my body and my elbows hurt me so much I could scarcely lift my baby. My skin was dry, harsh and scaly and hung like sacks on my arms. My husband called the doctor, and he said it was weakness, and my age. His medicine did me no good. I kept getting worse and weaker. It seemed I should go crazy. One day I wrote you and received advice. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now I can lie in bed with some comfort and can do a good day's work."

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps.

SILVER MINE IN A CISTERN.

In one corner of the melting room at the New Orleans Mint is a large iron tank in which the newly cast silver bars are dropped, hissing, to cool off. At the end of a hard day's work the surface of the water shows a faint rainbow hued scum, like the metallic lustre of stagnant pools, seen near a dye house. It comes in part from microscopic flakes of silver that have scaled off in the cooling. The water, when changed, runs down a pipe that terminates in the bottom of a cistern, which contains a layer of mud a couple of feet deep. As the water seeps up and through, the mud acts as a filter and catches the particles of precious metal, so in time it becomes an artificial silver mine. Once every quarter the stuff is scooped out and passed through a reduction process. The result is a silver brick worth maybe $50.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Miniature of Pike's Peak.

Colorado Springs, Col., June 15.—The Commissioners in charge of Colorado's gold exhibit at the Paris Exhibition have decided on a solid gold nugget miniature of Pike's Peak of $1,000,000 value. As a ton of gold is worth $602,928.50, the nugget will weigh one and two-thirds tons. It will reach New York city under guard in a special car, thence the Government will convey it to Paris. The Exposition Commissioners have guaranteed its safe return. The ore of the nugget represents nearly all the big producers of the State, the Cripple Creek mines being in the lead.

A Well Deserved Promotion.

Among the recent promotions in railroad circles we notice that of William A. Patton, assistant to the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to be President of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad, succeeding A. J. Cassatt. Mr. Patton now resides in Philadelphia but is a native of Huntingdon county. He is one of the best informed railroad men in the country and is an obliging and courteous official whom it is a pleasure to meet. His promotion is a well deserved compliment to a worthy gentleman.

A Snake in His Cellar.

LeRoy Gleason, jr., of Medix Run, went down into his cellar a few days ago and heard a peculiar rattle. He looked around to ascertain the cause and discovered a large rattlesnake in a corner. Procuring a club, he quickly killed the reptile. Several months ago he caught a coon in the cellar. A large terra cotta pipe drains the cellar, and through this his unwelcome visitors found entrance.

Why is it one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

In the Matter of Red Tape.

There are men in our army who are creatures of routine, absolutely. Eagan is a sample. He had under him dozens of officers who would see their men starve according to regulations before they would knock in a can of tomatoes and a box of hardtack, unless they had first put into operation orders, reports, requisitions, statements and references and tied their own legs up in so many fathoms of red tape that it took them a week to find their feet. One thing is certain. Our wars with Spain and the Filipinos have led to the abolition of much of the officialism and bureaucracy that have been such an injury to our army. And the result has been in every instance to make the soldiers better contented, to facilitate work, to produce a better understanding between men and officers and to put more fight into both of them. A man cannot serve so well if he is tied by rules, especially if he knows them to be nonsense, as when he is free and amenable only to his immediate superiors. He has been a free American, and he knows his rights were not signed away on his enlistment paper. —Brooklyn Eagle.

RECIPROCITY TREATY SIGNED

The First to Be Framed Under the Dingley Law.

MADE WITH ISLAND OF BARBADOES

The Provisions Will Not Be Known Until Submitted to the Senate—British Guiana and Jamaica Will Soon Be Included.

OTHER NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The reciprocity treaty between the United States and Great Britain in relation to trade between this country and the British colony of Barbadoes was signed at the Department of State yesterday by the representatives of the two governments. It is the first treaty framed under the Dingley law, and the first of the series of treaties which the British colonies to the south of this country are seeking to effect. Mr. John A. Kasson, special reciprocity plenipotentiary, signed for the United States, and the British Charge, Mr. Tower, for Great Britain.

The treaty is made for the term of five years, with provision for an extension unless either party should denounce it in the meantime. It is made strictly within the terms of Section 4 of the Dingley law, which provides for a reduction of not more than 20 per cent. of the regular duties on goods, wares and merchandise which may be agreed upon, in return for reciprocal reductions given by other countries. This section further permits goods to be taken from the dutiable list and placed on the free list, also for placing of goods on the free list for a term of years. The act provides that the treaty is to be made by the president, by and with the consent of the Senate, and an anomalous clause is added that the reduced duties are to apply when such treaty shall have been duly ratified by the Senate and approved by Congress.

Because this convention is a treaty and not a mere reciprocity arrangement, and, consequently, like all treaties, must be submitted to the United States Senate for its approval, the State Department is precluded from making public its terms. Therefore, it is not possible to give with more than an approximate degree of accuracy the scope of the instrument. In particular the department desires to avoid the discussion of special articles included, as this is likely to lead to controversy. The information received from official quarters has shown that the chief articles of export from Barbadoes to the United States are sugar, molasses and maujak, the latter being a pitch much like asphalt. Sugar is the chief product of the islands, and the chief export to this country, the trade last year reaching $2,038,610.

The chief articles sent to Barbadoes from the United States are foodstuffs, mainly flour, cornmeal, salt beef, bacon, pork, bread and corn. The island depends almost entirely on this country for its food supply. On the other hand, the people have been getting their manufactured goods almost exclusively from England. Our consuls have called attention recently to the market in the Barbadoes for canned goods, butter, preserves, cement, bicycles, carriages and electrical equipment.

The treaty relating to British Guiana is about ready to be signed, all the essential features having been agreed upon. The negotiations have proceeded so far that one of the commissioners from Guiana, Mr. De Jongs, has departed, Sir Cavendish Boyle remaining to wind up the matter. The Jamaican negotiations began yesterday, and the officials express hopes that results may be secured as to this colony at an early day.

While we were leaving, the rebels paid their compliments by throwing a few shells at us, but they were badly aimed

DEMOCRATS QUIT AND LEAVE

Charles J. Reilly, of Williamsport, Named for Superior Judge and W. T. Creasy, of Columbia, for State Treasurer.

THE END OF A TWO DAYS' CONTEST

HARRISBURG, June 16.—The contest before the Democratic State convention for Supreme Court Judge ended last evening with the unanimous nomination of Judge S. L. Mestrezat, of Fayette county, on the 28th ballot.

Charles J. Reilly, of Williamsport, permanent chairman of the convention, was nominated by acclamation for Judge of the Superior Court, and Representative William T. Creasy, of Columbia, was the unanimous choice for State Treasurer.

The convention was probably the most remarkable political gathering ever held in this State. Aside from the splendid personnel of the delegates and the good feeling that prevailed among the friends of the various candidates for Supreme Judge, it was remarkable for having continued through two days.

The convention started to ballot at 6.00 o'clock Wednesday evening for Supreme Court judge and after balloting until 12 o'clock a recess was taken until 10 o'clock Thursday morning with no signs of an election. Several ballots were taken during the morning and then a recess was taken until 3 o'clock, when the balloting was resumed. This continued until 6 o'clock last evening when the nomination was made.

York started the break to Mestrezat on the 28th ballot by casting its 13 votes for him. Before the vote was announced Congressman Ermentrout withdrew the 19 votes of Berks, cast for Judge Ermentrout, and gave them to Mestrezat. Mr. Donnelly, of Philadelphia, gave the 65 votes of Philadelphia solidly to Mestrezat. Centre county changed from Krebs to Mestrezat. Ex-Congressman Kerr, of Clearfield, who had managed Krebs' contest, withdrew his candidate in favor of Mestrezat. This insured the latter's nomination and there was a wild scene of enthusiasm. There were loud calls for Robert E. Umbel, of Uniontown, the manager of Judge Mestrezat's campaign, and that gentleman climbed onto the stage. The crowd gave him three hearty cheers and he made a brief speech of thanks.

Colonel Frank J. Fitzsimmons, of Lackawanna, who managed Judge Smith's campaign, moved to make the nomination of Judge Mestrezat unanimous, which was done amid great enthusiasm.

When the convention again settled down to business the names of Representative George R. Dixon, of Elk, and Mr. Reilly were presented for Superior Court judge. General A. H. Coffroth, of Somerset, withdrew Mr. Dixon's name, and on his motion Mr. Reilly was nominated by acclamation.

The convention then completed the ticket by the nomination of Mr. Creasy, for State Treasurer, his name having been placed before the convention by his colleague, Mr. Dixon.

The nomination for Supreme Court judge is equivalent to an election by reason of the fact that two are to be elected in November and no elector is entitled to vote for more than one. It is expected that Governor Stone will appoint Judge Mestrezat to the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Williams as soon as his nomination is certified to the State Department. This will create a vacancy on the bench in Fayette county and give the Governor a Common Pleas judge to appoint. The Governor tendered the vacancy on the Supreme bench to David T. Watson, of Pittsburg, and ex-Congressman Simon P. Wolverton, of Northumberland, both of whom declined. He since held the place open and there is every reason to believe that he will make the Mestrezat appointment promptly.

No Cigarettes in Tennessee.

The supreme court of Tennessee declared the law forbidding the sale or giving away of cigarettes in that state constitutional, and said, in part, as follows: "We think cigarettes are not legitimate articles of commerce, because they are wholly noxious and deleterious to health. Their use is always harmful, never beneficial. They possess no virtue but are inherently bad, and bad only. They find no true commendation of merit or usefulness in any sphere. On the contrary they are widely condemned as pernicious altogether. Beyond question their every tendency is toward the impairment of physical health and mental vigor."

Cannon Scatters Tornado.

WICHITA, Kan., June 16.—A well-defined tornado passed over Southern Oklahoma Wednesday afternoon and would probably have blown away the town of Hennessey had not a large cannon been discharged into it. The cannon was discharged into the funnel-shaped cloud when it was within fifty yards of that town. The cloud immediately dissolved.

This was the second tornado which has passed near Hennessey this Summer and been burst by firing cannons. The citizens recently purchased four large guns and placed one in each quarter of the town. A man is hired to watch the cannon, and when a tornado comes along he is to load and fire. In this way no tornado can blow away the town, the inhabitants assert.

—C. M. Walker, of Clintondale, lost a valuable horse Friday through the carelessness of a boy who is in his employ. The boy became angry at the horse for some cause or other and picking up a large stone, struck the animal on the leg, breaking it. The horse was shot to end its sufferings.

—Study, it is alleged, tends to lessen personal beauty. A case in point is the man who, after fooling with a mule, was not so good looking, but knew a great deal more.

The Republicans of Centre County will meet at their respective voting places in the several election districts in the county on Saturday July 22 1899 for the purpose of electing delegates to the County Convention. The delegates chosen at that time will meet in convention at the Court House in Bellefonte on Tuesday July 25, 1899 at 11 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of nominating one person for the office of Sheriff, one person for the office of Treasurer, one person for the office of Register, one person for the office of Recorder, two persons for the office of Commissioners, two persons for the office of Auditors, and one person for the office of Coroner. The said delegates in convention assembled will also elect two delegates to the Republican State Convention which meets at Harrisburg on Thursday August 24, 1899. They will also elect a county chairman for the year 1900 and transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Under the rules of the party the number of delegates to which each precinct is entitled is as follows:

HARRY KELLER, Secretary.

PENNSYLVANIA'S gallant Tenth Regiment Infantry, who have been doing themselves and their State proud during their service with the United States army in the Philippines, will leave for home and native land this week. A royal reception awaits this brave and fearless command. The citizens of Penn-sylvania will be proud to do them honor. We wish God speed to Colonel Hawkins and the fighting Tenth.

THE STATE TREASURERSHIP.

The nomination of Farmer Creasy, of Columbia county, for State Treasurer by the Democratic convention makes it necessary that the Republican convention, yet to be held, shall select as his competitor a man of equal if not superior merit. Mr. Creasy was a member of the lower house of the last Legislature at the last session, and his record on measures of State policy, of revenue and reform legislation was such as to win very general approbation.

It is no secret that he has been nominated in the hope that he may be able to attract the votes of those Republicans who cannot approve the Treasury management of the past, who do not believe that the money of the people should be used in private speculation and to secure loans to personal favorites, and that the policy of withholding payment of the school appropriation to accumulate large balances for speculative purposes cannot be justified. These are matters which have been pretty fully exposed within the past few months. Unwilling as we may be to so regard it, they are the questions which will be uppermost in the minds of the people when they cast their ballots for State Treasurer, and for the first time a campaign must be made with the facts uncovered.

The Treasury abuses have not been committed by the Republican party. They have been perpetrated by those in whom the party has misplaced its confidence. The party cannot be held responsible unless it shall assume the responsibility by its approval of the abuses or of those who committed them. To the coming Republican State convention will fall the duty of determining this undeniably grave matter. It cannot be supposed that the delegates who will compose that body will be any more tolerant of the misuse of the people's money in personal speculation, and of the crime of making a profit out of the public funds, than the Democratic convention assumed to be.

This is a great Republican State and there ought not to be any grounds for the election of a Democratic State Treasurer. No Republican citizen can want to vote for a Democratic candidate, but the Republican State convention will deliberately invite many thousands of such citizens to vote for Mr. Creasy unless it shall plant itself solidly on a platform of Treasury reform and repudiation of the abuses recently revealed and nominate a candidate whose character and political associations will be a guaranty to the people of the Commonwealth that reform is intended to mean something—that it will be carried out in good faith.

Such a course has been made imperative by the results of the Democratic convention of last week. Can any one give any reason why the Republican party should not be the one to accomplish the reforms so urgently required? As it cannot well attempt to antagonize the position taken by the Democratic platform in this matter the Republican convention will owe it to the Republican people to go up front and take the lead, and then prove its sincerity by the character of its nomination. —Philadelphia Press.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN TO BE RUN ON NATIONAL ISSUES.

If ex-Senator Quay has been correctly quoted the Republican campaign in the State this fall will be conducted on National issues. He is reported to have said in a recent interview "The people of Pennsylvania are too patriotic not to uphold the President at this time. They appreciate the glorious achievements of our soldiers and sailors and they will not fail to uphold the administration of President McKinley." It goes without say that the people of Pennsylvania will stand by the President. Pennsylvania has ever been a strong and loyal supporter of a Republican President. In every National contest Pennsylvania has stood in the front rank of states in the Union who cast their electoral votes for the Republican nominee. Pennsylvania will not fail in her duty next year. The political situation in our State at present is not a question of National concern and it is not at all necessary that National issues should be introduced into the approaching campaign. President McKinley's admirable administration needs no endorsement at this time. The citizens of Pennsylvania will give him a vote of confidence next year that will be no less emphatic and complimentary than was that in 1896. The contest in Pennsylvania this fall is for much needed reform in the administration of State government.

The mismanagement of State affairs and the abuses of official prerogatives by those in authority cannot be charged to the Republican party if the coming Republican State convention repudiates the actions of those to whom the censure and blame belongs and forcibly demands the nomination of men for State offices who possess the confidence and respect of the people. Should the convention condone and approve the course of the dominant faction of the party the responsibility of all the direful and disastrous results of Quayism will rest with the Republican party and the contest in the State will sorely need the powerful influence of "National issues." With a good, strong, clean ticket in the field, a ticket composed of men who would not prove obedient servants to the will and desires of a political machine the result of the election in November would be placed beyond the question of a doubt. By the way, it is a matter of record that prior to the declaration of war against Spain and in the last year of Mr. Quay's term as United States Senator he did not seem to realize the necessity for upholding the President at a time when the support and co-operation of every Republican member of the National Congress was needed. On the contrary, he vigorously opposed the Chief Executive at every opportunity and assisted in every attempt to hinder and defeat the President's plans and desires. Now Mr. Quay says "loyalty to the President" is incumbent upon every citizen of Pennsylvania, and it is said he purposes having a public demonstration of "loyalty to the President" at the polls in November. The people of Pennsylvania will look after their State affairs first. Mr. McKinley's administration will receive their attention later. The issue this fall may be honest government by honest officials vs. corrupt administration by political machines. The action of the Republican State convention will decide the question.

THE countless friends in Centre county of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Calvin M. Bower, Esq., were deeply disappointed over his unsuccessful efforts to secure the Democratic nomination for Justice of the Supreme Court. Mr. Bower would have made an admirable member of Pennsylvania's supreme judicial tribunal. He is a gentleman of exceptional legal talent, thoroughly trained and versed in law, and possesses to a high degree the essential qualifications for judicial service. While the nomination of Judge Mestrezat, of Fayette county, for the Supreme bench is spoken of in high praise, the selection of Mr. Bower would have elicited similar commendation and the strength of the Democratic ticket would have been equally assured, if not more pronounced.

INFORMATION has come to us from Philipsburg, in what appears to be an authoritative source, that his Honor, Judge Love, will arrive in that town in a few days to assist in setting up Quay delegates to the County convention to be held on July 25th. We do not know whether this is true or not, and do not give it much credence. Our representative, however, will be on the ground and report the facts for next week's issue of the REPUBLICAN.

KIDNAPING in New York is a dangerous vocation. The abductors of Baby Clarke will testify to this statement. Barrow received fourteen years at Sing Sing and his accomplice, the nurse maid, will reside at the Women's prison at Albany for four years. Justice was certainly righteously applied in their case.

THE LEGISLATIVE BRIBERY INDICTMENTS.

The Dauphin County Grand Jury last week returned true bills against ex-Senator Coyle, ex Representative Burns, ex-Representative Moyles and Robert Evans, four of the eight men accused of attempted bribery and corrupt solicitation in connection with the passage of the McCarrell jury bill and the frantic efforts of the Quay leaders to secure the election of ex-Senator Quay to the United States Senate. The same jury, however, ignored the bills against Representative Spots, ex-Congressman Kulp, Michael J. Costello and Frank B. Jones, and for reasons only known to the Grand Jury, as the hearing was conducted behind closed doors. It was believed that the evidence against these men before the Legislative Investigating Committee was sufficient to warrant their prosecution. While the action of the Grand Jury is in part a disappointment to our people generally it is nevertheless gratifying that four of the offenders against the laws of our Commonwealth will have to defend their offensive course in a court of justice. The conviction and punishment of these men will undoubtedly prove an effective curb against future attempts on the part of any political machine or organization to further the vicious and obnoxious schemes created purely in the interest of an individual who seeks to retain political power and influence against the will and desire of the people at large. The despicable and unlawful means employed by Quay and his lieutenants during the Senatorial contest will probably be well advertised during the trial of the alleged bribers, which is to occur in the Dauphin County Court in September next, and not to their honor and credit by any means. The Republicans of Pennsylvania are beginning to realize that a change in the leadership of the party is becoming more and more essential, and the fact that the Anti-Quay Republicans are organizing a good many of the County Committees this year is unmistakable evidence that the days of the Quay power are numbered.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GRIGGS hit the nail on the head when he said with regard to our obligations to the Philippines: "The United States stands bound to all other countries as the responsible sovereign of the Philippine Islands. It cannot, consistently with its international obligations or its own self-respect, assume any other attitude. Its title to the islands and to the sovereignty thereof, is regular, valid and unimpeachable. To attempt to shift international responsibilities to any ill formed or partially formed insurgent government would be to shirk a responsibility solely assumed by this country and would subject the United States not only to the ridicule but to the just contempt of all nations."

A TEMPORARY agreement has been reached in the matter of Alaskan boundary. The United States gained possession of all she claimed as being a part of her purchase from Russia. This includes Lynn Canal, which is very important with regard to fisheries and commerce. The Commissioners have seen how little foundation Canada had for her demands.

PHILADELPHIA has inaugurated a Wild West feature to their municipal attractions. A few days ago a huge bear made merry sport on Market street and on the night of the same day bold, bad highwaymen held high carnival in Fairmount Park and scooped in about $4,000. The Quaker City is not so slow.

THE Republican County convention, to meet in Bellefonte on Tuesday, July 25th, will nominate a ticket that will give the Democratic nominees cold shivers: We have first-class material to choose from and a first-class ticket is sure to be selected.

Some harsher term than "misguided" should be applied to men like W. L. Garrison who, in a speech lauding Aguinaldo to the skies, referred to the U. S. as "a great assassin nation".

A PERTINENT INQUIRY ANSWERED.

To the Editor of the REPUBLICAN:

In order to settle a good deal of political discussion and dispute in this section will you be kind enough to answer through the columns of your paper the following questions:

1. Has the County Judge the power to remove Fourth Class Postmasters at his pleasure?

2. Does Judge Love appoint the Census Enumerators for Centre County?

3. Is a Judge on the Bench expected to take a hand in politics or become a political boss?

Anxious Inquirer.

To the first question we answer: The County Judge has no more power to remove a Postmaster than he has to dethrone Queen Victoria. No Postmaster in Centre or any other County can be removed except upon failure to perform his duty, and of this the Postmaster General is the sole judge. All Postmasters are protected by the Civil Service rules. "Anxious Inquirer" has probably been misled by the fact that Judge Love induced Congressman Arnold to appoint the present incumbent of the Bellefonte Post Office and thereby secured a lucrative position for his (Love's) nephew. At the present time there is a good deal of rumor afloat that Judge Love can remove and appoint fourth class Postmasters at will, but the man who spreads such idiotic reports is either grossly ignorant or a knave, and he who believes it is worse than both. Arnold is no longer Congressman and is functus officio.

As to your inquiry about Judge Love appointing the Census Enumerators you are informed that he has nothing whatever to do with their appointment. The work of taking the census will not begin until next year and no census enumerators will be appointed until then. It has been authoritatively announced from Washington that the Civil Service Rules will apply in the selections of the enumerators This will make education and fitness the only test of eligibility. The Census of 1890 failed in many particulars because the enumerators, appointed for political reasons rather than on the ground of fitness, were unable to perform their duties. This will not be permitted by the present Superintendent of the Census. Merit will be the only test. We have never heard that Judge Love claimed that he could have Census Enumerators appointed in this County, and it would be doing him a great injustice for his partisan friends to circulate such foolish reports. Those who seek to injure him by spreading these false rumors about Fourth Class Postmasters and the Census Enumerators should be speedily halted.

To your third question, "Is a Judge on the Bench expected to take a hand in politics or become a political boss?", we answer emphatically, No. When a Judge is elevated to the Bench it is his duty to remove himself entirely from partisan politics, He becomes the judge and arbiter of the rights of all classes of citizenship. In the administration of his duties, like the ancient emblem of justice, the true Judge is blind to all else save the solemn rights of the parties.

To trail the judicial ermine in the pool of politics is degrading and disgraceful to the exalted position; it robs justice of its rights; it puts a blackening bias upon judicial administration; it banishes that confidence in the judiciary which is so necessary to our form of government; and tends to make the sacred bench the foot ball of designing politicians. The tendency of the times and the better judgment of the people are toward a nonpartisan judiciary. This was clearly illustrated in the Democratic State Convention held in Harrisburg last week where two days were occupied in balloting for a Judge whose nomination was equivalent to an election upon the Supreme Court Bench. Every political judge who was an aspirant for the nomination was defeated, and the candidate who was farthest removed from participation in party politics was nominated.

The judge who sets out to make himself a political boss is at the the same time engaged in erecting his own judicial tombstone, public sentiment like a cyclone will sweep him out of official life.

"Anxious Inquirer" appears to be disposed to do injustice to Judge Love. Until there appears to be incontestable proof that the Judge has left the Bench for the time being to enter the political arena it is unfair and unjust to prejudge or say harsh things. He is making his own record and by that record he will stand or fall.

THE School Directors of Upper Merion township, Montgomery county, at their annual meeting held a few days ago, were brought face to face with a condition in their school affairs that grew out of the reduction of the school appropriation by the Quay machine. The following resolutions passed by the directors indicates the feeling that exists in Upper Merion township over Gov. Stone's school veto and at the same time makes evident the effect of his action upon the school interests in that locality:

"Resolved, That the action of the Governor in vetoing a portion of the school appropriation meets with our decided condemnation, and in the present depression of the farming interests any increase in taxation will cause distress.

"Resolved, That if the action of the Governor is sustained by the courts it will necessitate our shortening the school term, as by reason of an increase in non-taxpaying population, the cost of maintenance has been greatly increased."

The situation that this and other school boards have been obliged to meet is identical with that which school directors of Centre county will be compelled to consider before long. The unfortunate and deplorable predicament that confronts those with whom we have intrusted the management of our school affairs is not attributable to the Republican party, but does belong to the Quay faction thereof. The honest and conscientious Republican representatives of the party at Harrisburg during the recent legislative session endeavored, as best they could, to provide for the needs of the State Treasury by the introduction, in the General Assembly, of measures calculated to swell the annual receipts of the Commonwealth. They were powerless, however, to overcome the unyielding opposition of the Quay element and the attempted legislation, the enactment of which would have kept the school appropriation intact and arranged for a proper and adequate contribution to our various institutions dependent upon State aid, was hopelessly and recklessly defeated. As a result of Quay orders and Quay instructions our free schools, miners' hospitals, indigent insane asylums and other institutions of the State which were victims of the Governor's veto axe, must pay the penalty of Quay's injurious and harmful operations against their interests.

Let them Run Barefooted.

An exchange says: Let your children run barefooted when the warm weather comes. It will do them lots of good and they will enjoy it immensely. You don't have to be poor to do this, nor fortunately, do not have to be rich. There is something about the electric currents of the earth that strengthen and nourish man, for we know that rubber boots, a non-conductor of electricity, are bad for him, and that rubber pads are bad for horses. Get the bare feet of the children on the ground and get sunlight on their skin. This is the best of all summer tonics.

CAPTAIN SAMUEL DEWEY, who died in Philadelphia a few days ago, was a cousin of Admiral George Dewey and was known as "The Old Man of the Sea," on account of his roving disposition. It was he who cut the figurehead of Jackson from the prow of the old frigate Constitution.

Mr. L. M. Haupt, one of the Isthmian Canal Commissioners, may not have been politic when he called the sending of commissions a bluff to prevent any canal being built, but he was very near the rock bottom facts.

Senator Teller is again "being mentioned" as a possible Presidential candidate.

TIMELY ADMONITION

From a Leading Republican Journal of Pennsylvania.

The Lancaster Examiner.

There are certain charges in the Democratic platform which cannot be ignored, as they only reiterate what Republican editors have long asserted in their papers and Republican orators on the platform. There is no diguising the fact that citizens of all classes are suspicious of the past management of the State Treasury and want no more of it. There is not a school district which is not grumbling about delayed payments in the past and reduced appropriations of the present, due both to a former system of piling up great reserves for private purposes and more recently to the non-enactment of a just and better tax bill, to say nothing of increased expenses through a needless enlargement of the official class.

Again, it is idle to assert there is no dissatisfied feeling within the Republican ranks. It is more intense today than ever before, due to the uncompromising and stern iron hand of the dominant faction in ostracizing from place or consultation the best Republicans in the party; and again to the unwarrantable and illegal manner in which the vacancy to the United States Senate has been filled. That this feeling of dissent is not a minor matter or represented by a few individuals is shown by the outspoken utterences of many Republican journals, the ablest in the State. These general facts must be conceded; and so the question arises, what is the duty of the hour?

The whole answer can be summed up in a few words. The convention should be left to itself, and then we believe it will do right. Much that is evil in our politics does not come from mere desire to do wrong, but from coercion. Often in Legislative halls and conventions men vote against their convictions simply through fear of consequences to themselves or friends at the hands of the master or boss. There are thousands of Republicans who are now sneeringly nick-named "Insurgents," and equal numbers in the other ranks largely from compulsion, who desire an honorable peace which will ennoble the Republican cause and make it worthy of long and continued triumphs. Hence, men of liberal views, who care more for the party as a whole and its principles than for individuals, deprecate the no uncommon position of having to vote on the question of which is the lesser evil? These men desire an unassailable ticket and platform, the one the spontaneous choice of the people, the other not a jingle of words to deceive for a moment, but an honest declaration to be an inspiration for all time. The conclusion of the whole matter is plain. The Republican convention should not assemble with such miserable labels as Quay or anti-Quay, but as representatives of a party united for no selfish purpose, but to nominate men for the Judgeships that wear no tag; to proclaim a platform with the ring of sincerity; a candidate for the Treasury who will be a custodian for the people and not a horticulturist for a private plum orchard. This can be done and will be done if old leaders cease from meddling and let the spontaneous sentiment of the party ring out influence and direct the prize. By this method, and only this, will the Republicans have a case to obtain an almost unanimous verdict of approval and not win because they are only a trifle better than their antagonists.

A Snake Story from Tyrone.

A snake story from Tyrone says that Ira W. Cook, John Heverly and Isaac B. McNeal, killed twenty two snakes in the old Archy Dunlap stone quarry, at what is known as the Sidman place, on top of the Allegheny mountain on last Sunday afternoon. Of the twenty two killed eighteen were copperheads. One was twenty inches long, one 21 inches, two 22 inches, three 23 inches, five 24 inches, one 25 inches, two 29 inches, one 31 inches, one 34 inches and one 38 inches, making a total 460 inches of copperheads. There were two vipers, one of which measured 30½ and the other 33 inches, making 63½ inches of vipers. One bark snake measured 15 inches and one garter snake measured 20 inches. In all there were 558½ inches, or 46 feet 6½ inches of snake.

HELD FOR COURT ON BRIBERY!

Coyle, Moyles, Costello and Byrne All Indicted in Quay Bribery Cases.

TRIALS COME OFF IN SEPTEMBER.

The Grand Jury of Dauphin County Find True Bills Against Quay's Lobbyists—The Great Victories in Tioga, Huntingdon and Lebanon Counties. The Machine Overwhelmingly Defeated—State Democratic Convention Names a Strong Ticket—Creasy For State Treasurer.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Harrisburg, June 20.—The grand jury of Dauphin county last Friday found true bills for attempted bribery in connection with the attempted re-election of M. S. Quay to the United States senate against ex-Senator John J. Coyle of Schuylkill county, Michael J. Costello of Lycoming county, Robert, alias "Fighting Bob" Evans of Philadelphia and ex-Representative Thomas M. Moyles of Wilkesbarre. Ex-Representative John R. Byrne of Fayette county was also held for court for the same offense.

Most of these men were members of the Quay lobby. They were around Harrisburg during the greater part of the last legislative session, and their crime was the attempted bribery of legislators to vote for Senator Quay for United States senator or for the notorious McCarrell bill to change the system of getting a jury that it might benefit Senator Quay in his late trial.

Unfortunately all of the men charged with attempted bribery did not share the same fate. The grand jury ignored the bills against Representative Charles B. Spatz of Berks county, Frank Jones of Philadelphia and ex-Congressman Monroe B. Kulp. The case of Parker L. Titus, of Easton, who attempted to bribe Representative Heyl, did not come before the grand jury, but went over until November.

THEY WILL BE TRIED.

All of the men indicted are certain to come to trial. District Attorney Miller, of Dauphin county, will prosecute the cases. Lawyer Charles H. Bergner, of Harrisburg, counsel for the Business Men's League, has been engaged as private prosecuting counsel, and will assist in the trials. By mutual agreement the cases will not be taken up until the September term of court, owing to a press of other criminal business the present term.

The indictment of this quartet is a triumph for honest government and a blow at the Quay machine, in whose interests these men labored. Everything that could be done to prevent indictment was done. Several weeks ago rumors were thick that disreputable men were in Harrisburg for the purpose of trying to reach the members of the Dauphin grand jury and influence them. It came to the ears of Attorney Bergner, and he instantly set detectives to work, and at the same time served notice on those concerned that unless these men were driven out of town there would be trouble for somebody. The result was that the men who were presumably engaged in trying to tamper with the jurymen suddenly disappeared and the rumors ceased.

The victory of the anti-Quay forces in Huntingdon, Tioga and Lebanon counties, referred to in the last letter from Harrisburg, is much greater than at first anticipated. In Huntingdon county the anti-Quay leaders elected two delegates to the state convention, captured seven out of the nine county offices and control the county organization. It is a complete vindication for Senator H. C. Chisholm, one of the opponents of Senator Quay in the last legislature. It is a rebuke, and a very severe one, for the representatives from Huntingdon county, Messrs. Bare and Milliken, both of whom were thick and thin Quay supporters against the wishes of their constituents.

VICTORY IN TIOGA.

In Tioga county the fight was the most bitter and vindictive that was ever seen there. The Quay machine was routed, though it put thousands of dollars into the contest, and out of it all secured but one delegate to the state convention. The anti-Quay element, under the leadership of Representative Robert K. Young, elected all of the county officers, secured control of the county organization and elected a delegate to the state convention.

This is Governor Stone's native county, and it was for this reason that such tremendous efforts were made by the machine to carry it. He sent state employes into the county to work for him, neglecting their duties here at the capitol. But it was all in vain. His own county rebuked Governor Stone. Its people could not forget his subservience to the Quay ring and his unjustifiable cutting of the school appropriation. This result in Tioga county also seals the fate of Senator Walter T. Merrick, one of Quay's followers, the man who placed Quay's name in nomination for United States senator. The magnificent leadership of Representative Young places him before the people as the man who will defeat Merrick for the state senate. If he should be so bold as to be a candidate for re-election.

GOBIN REBUKED.

In Lebanon county no such defeat has been encountered by any set of men in recent years as that which met the Quay forces. The opponents of the machine carried the county by an overwhelming majority, electing everything and controlling the county organization. This is Lieutenant Governor Gobin's county, another member of the Quay combination. Governor Stone's faction was defeated in Tioga county, and Lieutenant Governor Gobin was rebuked in Lebanon county. To most men of intelligence this would be a warning.

The Democratic state convention met here last Wednesday. It was a remarkably harmonious meeting. Judge Stephen L. Mestrezat, of Fayette county, was nominated for supreme judge, Charles J. Reilly, of Williamsport, for superior court judge and William T. Creasy, of Columbia county, for state treasurer. It is considered a strong ticket, even by M. S. Quay. The nomination of Mr. Creasy for state treasurer means a great deal. He is a farmer, and was one of the leading Democratic opponents of Senator Quay in the last legislature. He is an able, fearless man, and is so regarded by those who know him best, regardless of party. His nomination is a warning to the machine. Unless the Quayites nominate a man above reproach and without machine affiliations Mr. Creasy will make a formidable opponent.

QUAY'S LAST WAIL.

Ex-Senator Quay is quoted in the Philadelphia papers as saying that the ticket is the strongest that the Democrats have put up for years, but that it will be defeated because the people will stand by President McKinley. This is the old Quay game of falling back on national issues and loyalty to the president. What has President McKinley or national issues to do with the treasury looting machine and its career in Pennsylvania? The fight this year and next year and for all the years is against Quay and Quayism, the machine and machine corruption. Nobody in the United States senate has been more disloyal to President McKinley than M. S. Quay. He opposed Mr. McKinley for the presidency, and he fought his Cuban policy, yet now when he fears defeat he begins to shout for everybody to rally round McKinley and save Quay.

Whether the Republicans elect a state treasurer this year does not depend upon President McKinley. It does depend, however, solely upon whether M. S. Quay and his machine nominate an honest, clean handed man who will not be the tool of a corrupt ring if he is elected.

Held Up by Masked Men.

MENA, Ark., June 17.—Yesterday the southbound passenger train on the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf road was held up by three masked men near Shady, I. T. The engineer was signaled to stop and on bringing the train to a standstill guns were leveled at him and the fireman was commanded to go back and cut off the express car. Then they all entered the cab of the engine, and ran the cars down the track a couple of miles, where they went through the express and mail cars, securing considerable booty, the exact amount of which is not known, as the express company will not give out the amount of its loss.

The robbers did not go through the passenger coaches. The United States marshal's office at Fort Smith was notified and a posse sent at once to the scene to take the trail of the robbers.

Shamokin Man Murdered.

Shamokin has another murder mystery The lifeless body of Alexander Jankoski aged about 26 years, of Continental Patch, a small mining settlement about three miles east of Shamokin, was found at the foot of a steep embankment about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday June 13, by a woman by the name of Mrs. May. There were several shot marks about the face and neck and all indications pointed toward murder. After empanelling a jury, an exhaustive examination showed that the man had evidently been returning home from work and was shot from ambush, the force of the charge stunning him. His waylayers then set upon him and choked him to death. The muscles of the neck were badly bruised and showed deep finger marks.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE.

To Disprove Facts. It is Decidedly Easy to Verify Bellefonte Opinion.

Nothing by way of an introduction could be added to the experiences and opinions given below, which could increase their value. Bellefonte people can safely be left to draw their own conclusions based on such convincing proof as this citizen offers. What is there lacking in evidence like this to satisfy a dyed-in-the-wool-doubting-Thomas?

Mr. Walter Whippo, of Water street, leading Horse-shoer of Bellefonte, says:—"I have a good word to say for Doan's Kidney Pills. I was miserable with backache and a lameness across my loins. I knew it was from my kidneys, for I had suffered from it prior to that. Sometimes I could hardly straighten after bending forward which greatly interfered with my work. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills, procured them at F. Pott Green's drug store and began using them. I had taken other medicines and worn plasters but I never had anything act so promptly as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been quite free from the whole trouble ever since.

SUMMER CATARRH

Catarrh of the bowels, because it is most prevalent in the summer months, is called summer catarrh.

It surprises many that bowel trouble is catarrhal. Dr. Hartman's books make this plain. Write to the Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for them. They tell all about catarrh and how Pe-ru-na cures it wherever located.

"I had chronic diarrhœa for fifteen years," writes Mr. T. E. Miller, Grand Prairie, Tex. "I tried many medicines and doctors in vain. At last Pe-ru-na was recommended, and it relieved and cured me at once."

Mr. John Harting, 633 Main St., Cincinnati, O., writes: "My wife and myself took your Pe-ru-na for chronic diarrhœa and it cured us. No doctor or medicine we tried before helped us."

Mr. Edward Wormack, Ledbetter, Tex., writes: "Pe-ru-na for bowel troubles is unequalled by anything in my experience. I owe my life to Pe-ru-na, and shall always recommend it to those suffering as I was."

Mr. John Edgarton, 1020 Third Ave., Altoona, Pa., says: "I suffered from dysentery for three years I took Pe-ru-na and am now well."

Hard Knock for Quayism.

HUNTINGDON, June 21.—The death knell of Quayism in this county was sounded Monday by the local candidates of the Republican party taking a firm grip on the party machinery and knocking out any candidate for the County Chairmanship who was even suspected of wearing a Quay collar. The action of the meeting of the local candidates verifies the press reports of last week in giving anti-Quay leaders the credit of manipulating the recent Convention. L. H. Beers, an avowed antagonist of Quayism, was easily elected Chairman over County Commissioner A. S. Welsh, who was fortified with all the influence Quay adherents could rally to his support. Other candidates given complimentary votes were Thomas W. Montgomery and Editor O. Z. Shaver, of the County Bulletin.

Howard on top as Relates to Children's Day.

To give you an account of the affair in detail, would require the pen of a more ready writer than your humble servant; take up to much of your valuable space; and tax your generosity away beyond the liberal limit line.

In a nut shell then, or on the "Multum in parvo" plan, I will tell your many thousand readers, how the special services appropriate to children's day was observed in the United Evangelical church at this place on Sunday evening. To say there was a big crowd there, would be putting it a little tame. It was simply an overflow meeting.

The program was so well arranged, and so ably carried out, by both old and young, interesting the great audience to such an extent, that not one left the crowded room until the Benediction was pronounced.

The floral display was grand in the extreme. The altar space, and in the rear of the pulpit presented a magnificient scene, decorated as they were with stately palms, flowering cactus, beautiful roses, and piles of many other sweet scented and rare flowers.

The singing by the choir, under the leadership of Wm. Weber Esq., was rated by the great audience, as among the record breakers. The solos, duets, and quartets rendered, gave evidence of first-class training, and that the singers were able at any time to go up and possess the land. But the crowning climax was the part the little people took in the exercises. They acquitted themselves nobly. Their recitations and dialogues were not only successful, but very highly successful. The large audience present were more than delighted, and satisfied that the children connected with the Evangelical Sunday school were being brought up in the way they should go. The praise, and blessing, and honor of the success of this children's day exercises, in a very large measure belongs to Mrs. Dr. L. R. Hensyl. Mrs Hensyl is a worker in the church, who need not be ashamed. She understands the christian training of the children, and they all love and respect her. She ranks high among the christian men and women who are conducting the evangelization of the world.

The address of the pastor, Rev. Bair, just before the collection was taken up was short, instructive and to the point. I think, as a result of his speech the contents of the collection baskets was greatly augmented.

Although all hands had a good time, and it is to be hoped that renewed zeal, and increased energy in the Master's cause, will be the motto for the future.—Forgeman.

History of an Old Pig of Iron.

The first blast furnace erected in the present State of Maryland, called Principio Furnace was commenced in 1723 by the Principio Company composed of English gentlemen, of which Augustine Washington, the father of George Washington, became a member before 1732. When Augustine Washington died in 1743 he owned an interest in all the property of the Principio Company, which he bequeathed to his son Lawrence, who died in 1752, bequeathing to his daughter, Sarah, his interest "In the Principio, Accokeek, Kingsbury, Laconshire and North East Iron Works in Virginia and Maryland." George Washington was one of the executors of this will.

The Principio Furnace was located in Cecil county, near the mouth of Principio creek, about six miles distant from the town of North East, and it was probably completed and put in blast in 1724. A forge was connected with the furnace. Both the furnace and forge were successfully operated by the Principio Company down to the beginning of the Revolutionary War,

About 1870, while several men were engaged in grappling for iron ore in the Patapsco river, off Fort McHenry, they found about fifteen tons of pig iron in an advanced state of oxidation. Upon examining the pigs it was found that some of them contained the words, "Principio *1751, "in raised letters on their surface. They were made at Principio Furnace. Two of the pigs marked in this manner were secured by the Stickney Iron Company, of Baltimore, which presented one of them to the Maryland Historical Society. The other pig was retained by the company in its office in Baltimore for few years, when it was presented to the American Iron and Steel Association, which now presents it to the Carnegie Museum, of Pittsburg. Lawrence Washington was a member of the Principio Company when this pig was made.—The Iron and Steel Association Bulletin.

On the Side of Justice.

The corpulent padre of Las Cruces was awakened from his midday siesta by the movement of a swarm of sand flies over his moist face.

"Plagues of Egypt!" he cried, starting up and slapping viciously at the insects. "Is there no rest for the servant of God? Ten thousand curses on these pests!"

Having bathed his smarting face with a soothing lotion, he hastened across the sandy road to his little adobe chapel

There was a gentle rustle in one of the dim corners as the padre moved up the aisle,then a smothered laugh, mingled with the deeper tones of a man's voice. The padre paused to listen.

"Who laughs in the house of God?" he demanded sternly. "This is the place for prayer and penitence.',

"It is Poca Rosa who laughs,holy father. You will not be angry with me?"

"But who is with you?"

"Senor Americano."

"I hope we have not displeased you, Padre Miguel?" said a tall man, stepping out from the shadow. "The heat is so terrible outside."

"Blistered Dives, so it is!" said the padre, feeling his bitten face. "So it is but the senor and little Rose should not be lovemaking in here. No good will come of it."

The big American's hand traveled to his pocket and thence to the padre's fat palm.

"No hay cerradura si es de oro la ganzua" (There is no lock but a golden key will open it). repeated the padre, smiling broadly. "Rest in peace, my children, but do not disturb my devotions."

In a short time the heavy breathing of the padre sounded through the chapel and Poca Rosa laid her little brown hand on the big American's sleeve.

"Ah, Senor Miles," sighed Poca Rosa,nestling close to his side, "why should my people hate you so? You are so grand, so good. Even Padre Miguel cannot be cross with you."

Miles did not reply immediately. His mind wandered back to his home so far away from the everlasting sun sand and adobe of New Mexico. What would his mother and sisters say if he were to suddenly appear in their midst, accompanied by the little Mexican Rose? He laughed softly to himself at the picture.

"Why do you laugh?" questioned the girl! "Do you not know that they have sworn guerra a cuchillo?"

"'War to the knife!' They always say that, little girl, but it means nothing."

"Hucco has killed many Americanos," she insisted, shuddering. 'Holy Mary guard you, senor. He will surely try to kill you."

"And why me, little Rosa?

He was my lover, senor, before the blessed saints send you to me.,'

"Did you love him, Rosa?"

"Ah, Dios, no! But my father fears him."

A sudden beam of light shot across the backs of the benches, and a breath of hot air swept in from the outside. Poca Rosa shrank farther back into the dim corner and locked her arms about Miles.

"Do not move," she whispered.

"Holy Virgin protect us! It is he!"

The door swung shut, and the Mexican moved up the aisle toward the alter. He paused several times as the heavy breathing of the padre caught his ear. Once his foot struck a bench, and the noise was echoed far up among the bare rafters. At last he bent down and touched the padre.

"A curse on these plagues of Egypt!" cried the sleeper, waking suddenly.

"Is there no rest for—Oh, Hucco, you? What is it now?"

"I have killed another Americano, father. Another white livered dog has been sent to hades. I come to confess."

The padre glanced nervously in the direction of the dark corner. Then he led Hucco into a little room behind the altar.

"And he's been killing more Americans, has he? mused Miles. "Heavens! What snakes these Mexicans are!"

"Not me," whimpered Poca Rosa.

"No,not you, dear little Rose," he said. "You are as harmless as the singing birds," and he gently stroked her tear moist cheek.

"We must go," she said, sobbing. "He will see us as he comes out."

"All right, little girl," Miles replied. "Just as you think best."

The big American stood in the chapel doorway and watched the lithe form of the Mexican girl until she disappeared around a corner.

'What a fool a fellow will make of himself!" he laughed. "I'm sorry the girl takes everything so seriously. So I've deposed the murderous Hucco, have I? Well, suppose we have a look at this Greaser."

Miles had just started to roll his third cigarette when the chapel door opened and Hucco gilded out.

"A fine day, Don Hucco," said Miles. "And do you feel better after lightening your soul of its burden of sin?"

The Mexican sprang to one side and laid his hand on his knife. Miles calmly moistened his cigarette and felt for a match.

Hucco's shifty eyes traveled over the face of the big American, but apparently gained no satisfaction there.

"Adios,senor," said Hucco abruptly. "I hope that we shall meet again."

"Adios," replied Miles. "Just let me know when you are in my vicinity next time."

The following morning the town of Las Cruces was profoundly stirred. Senor Miles had been found dead in his bed, stabbed in the back.

A month later a breath of news again stirred the indolent ones to the point of gossip. Jose Hucco and Poca Rosa were to be married. That recalled the fate of Senor Americano.

The day before the wedding Hucco went to the little chapel for confession.

"I must have peace in my soul, padre," he said. "I cannot marry Poca Rosa until my great sin is forgiven."

"The justice and mercy of God are unbounded, my son," said Padre Miguel.

"It was I who killed Senor Miles What said you, padre?"

"Proceed."

"You will absolve me, father?"

"Not now, my son. You have done great evil. You must do great penance. You are, above all men, most sinful."

"What must I do, father?"

You know the place of the scaffold?"

Hucco shuddered and turned cold to the backs of his hands.

"You would not betray me father?"

"I betray you under the seal of confession! No. It is the penance which I am about to impose upon you. Tonight you must go to the scaffold kneel down beneath it and pray seven times for the soul of each man that you have murdered. Then until the day breaks pray that your own soul may be kept from the torments of hell."

"Will nothing else suffice?" said Hucco, with chattering teeth.

"Is it your place to dictate the terms of your penance? replied Padre Miguel sternly. "Do as I command you or suffer full punishment for your sins."

"I will go," said Hucco.

Padre Miguel was, above all things, a practical man. He believed in the power of penitence and prayer and he was also firmly convinced of the benefits of applied means.

That night he hastened to the gaunt gallows, which loomed up far out over the sandy plain. He reached his destination just as the heavy darkness settled down over the surrounding country. Up one side of the scaffold ran a rough ladder, and up this ladder the padre toiled with his weight of flesh. After reaching the cross beam at the top the good man sat down and cautiously moved himself out to a point about midway between the uprights. Then he waited. The seat was narrow and perilous. Padre Miguel grew impatient.

"Dios!" he groaned as the moments dragged alone. "I am cut in halves. The dog! Why has he not come?"

From beneath his robe the padre drew a strong rawhide lariat. One end was tied about his ample wrist, the other formed a running noose.

"Ah, I shall give him a fright!" chuckled the padre between twinges of pain. "The saints be praised! There he is now!"

A dim figure moved slowly to a point directly beneath the cross beam of the gallows and knelt down

The padre had intended to wait until the prescribed prayers were said, but he grew impatient and determined upon immediate action Inch by inch he lowered the noosed end of the lariat. Finally it hung even with the penient's neck. At deft twist, and it was over Hucco's head. A sharp jerk and it was biting his neck.

"Mother of God! shrieked Hucco. struggling madly to tear off the noose.

"Help! I must not die yet! The prayers are not said!"

Padre Miguel threw his weight against the lariat and managed to hold the frenzied man in check.

Hucco screamed and prayed and cursed and cried.

In the excitement of the moment the padre leaned back farther and farther, forgetting the narrowness of the beam on which he was seated. There was a sudden slackening of the lariat; the padre whirled backward and shot down to the ground, 20 feet below.

"Merciful heaven!" groaned Padre Miguel as soon as he regained consciousness. "This lariat is cutting me in two but what of the poor devil on the other end?"

By a great effort he turned himself over on his back and looked up. Directly above him Hucco was dangling by the neck,from the cross beam

"God have mercy on his sinful soul!" cried the padre. "I have become his hangman by the direction of Providence."

As quickly as possible Padre Miguel unfastened the lariat from his own waist and lowered the body of Hucco to the ground. Then he fled to the seclusion of his little chapel.

All that night and the following day he fasted and prayed interspersing the ritual with many pertinent ejaculations.

The body of Hucco was found and discussed. The execution was unhesitatingly attributed to some supernatural agency; hence the inhabitants of Las Cruces now have a tale that's worth telling.—Lancaster Examiner.

During the Porto Rican campaign a green private from a Western regiment, who had ideas of his own about military discipline and personal independence, was detailed to act as orderly at General Miles's tent. A big consultation was on inside, half a dozen of the leading officers of the invading army,being gathered in the General's tent. Someone called for the orderly and the green private appeared, made a pass at his hat, and ejaculated, " Well, Miles, what is it?"

A TALE OF A GLOVE.

It was an odor of roses about my nephew that led to the discovery of the glove. Up to his nineteenth birthday, which arrived a month ago he had gone through life contemptuous of button-holes, and I was a little taken aback about that time when I ran against him at a corner with a Marechal Niel at his breast He whipped it hurriedly into his pocket, and, being a kindly old gentleman, I pretended not to notice. But my faith in him was profoundly shaken. Soon I learned that he was conveying tasteful little button-holes into the house up his coat-sleeve, and he blushed when he was asked about a tumbler in his bedroom. Then his mother found a six-button glove, size five and a half, in his pocket, which none of us could identify. For some days he had only one glove himself, which he carried spread out in his hand to look like two. We could not think that this was its long-lost companion.

Pending investigations the glove was replaced in Albert's pocket in the nice little piece of tissue-paper which protected it. Then we watched Albert. Hitherto he had had a habit of leaving the room when the conversation took a feminine turn; but now a change came over him. He sat on when his mother talked with his aunt over the relative merits of styles of gowns, and though he pretended to be reading his book he was really drinking in the conversation. On one occasion he came out of his shell in a remarkable manner. The two ladies were asking each other what was the other name for the waterfall back, and Albert, carried away by his interest in the discussion, murmured, "Redingote." His mother and his aunt looked at him in amazement, which made Albert turn both white and red. Not long afterward it leaked out that he knew what "sailor collars" were and liked pale-pink ones.

Albert even began to take an interest in his sisters' dresses.

Once he was discovered trying to ascertain for himself how much Gertrude, who is 14, measures round the waist. Not being accustomed to these attentions. Gertrude liked them at first; but it was soon borne in upon her—though she was only 14— that her brother was experimenting on her for private reasons of his own. Albert was also curious to know what size in boots Gertrude required, and smiled to himself when told. Gertrude, who has known since she was 4 that she has large feet, did not like this.

It must, I think, have been a week after the discovery of the glove in Albert's pocket that he asked his mother, with an artificial yawn, whether five and a half was not a small size in gloves for a lady. Then his mother asked me to go delicately to work and find out what was Albert's condition, and who she was.

I thought I would leave it to Albert to tell me who she was but I experimented on him to discover his condition. Nothing I feel, could have been more delicate than the way I set about it. He carried the glove in an inside pocket, over the spot where Albert thought his heart was.

Taking advantage of a favorable moment, I got at the coat and changed the glove to another pocket. The next time I had an opportunity for feeling for it, it was back in the old place again. This happened several times Albert who is a simple youth for all his cunning evidently thinking that he had put the glove into the wrong pocket himself. Then I hazarded a bolder step. Again taking possession of the glove, I dropped it in a corner of the drawing-room.

That evening Albert came back from the office in a perturbed state of mind. I watched him on his knees in the hall looking for something, and when he saw me he pretended to be unlacing his shoes. He wandered from room to room and was subsequently heard flinging his things about in his bedroom. He said not a word about his loss however, to anyone. Next morning I was surprised to see him bright and cheerful. I went into the drawing room, and, behold! the glove was gone. From the way the unsuspecting Albert was incessantly putting his hand into that inside pocket I saw that there was once a five-and-a-half glove in it. I had feared that Albert would treasure it somewhere else now; but no, he evidently thought that he had dropped it in the drawing room accidentally—perhaps after passionately gazing on it in secret.

But the awakening came when I concealed the little glove in a vase on the smoking-room mantelpiece. Albert ran it to earth in a day and a half without saying a word on the subject to anybody, unless possibly the housemaid. When next I felt for it in his pocket it was not there. From that time Albert and I were playing at hide-and seek. When I was not looking for the glove he was. I found it inside the case of his cricket bat and dropped it behind the piano. Albert searched it out, and soon afterward I got it under a corner of the carpet in his bedroom. Then I hid it among some music, knowing that Albert would look there last. All this time I did not know if he suspected who it was that was playing with him. I do not know now, for we have never opened our minds on the subject.

Albert did not find the glove among the music. When two days had passed I put it in an easier place for Albert was bearing his disappointment bravely. Still he did not find it. Next I flung it on the floor of his bedroom, and Albert did not seem to see it. I laid it on his mantelpiece and he let it remain there.

At last it struck me to look in Albert's pocket again. There was another glove in it; size six and a quarter, eight buttons.

Then I went to Albert's mother and told her he was cured.

IN CASE OF FIRE.

How to Prepare Hand Grenades at Home for Quick Use.

The proverbial ounce of prevention is worth several pounds of cure in case of fire.

When a fire occurs, by splashing and spraying burning articles with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia, an incombustible coating is at once formed.

This is a preparation which should be kept on hand, and is easily home made at trifling cost. Dissolve twenty pounds of common salt and ten pounds of nitrate of ammonia in several gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass and then you have fire grenades at hand in case of need

The bottles should be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and when there is a fire they must be thrown in or near the flames, so as to break and thus liberate the gas contained, to effect the desired result. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready in case of need.

It is well to remember that water poured on burning oil is only fuel to the flames; scatter flour over the oil and the blaze will be speedily extinguished.

Salt thrown upon a fire—for instance, if the chimney is burning—will help to deaden the blaze. If chimney flues were lined with vitrified pipe drains, which are quite inexpensive, the chimney would be absolutely fire proof, rust proof, non conducting jacket on the hot air pipes would be not only a very good precautionary measure, but would save heat now radiated from the tin.

A silk handkerchief dipped in water is the best thing to wear about the mouth and nostrils to prevent suffocation from smoke; failing this, a piece of wet flannel or cloth will answer the purpose.

Should the smoke fill the room before you can get to the window wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over the face, drop on the hands and knees and crawl to the window. Smoke goes first to the top of the room and to the floor last, so that some time is thus secured.

It is well to remember that there is no more danger in getting out of a high window than out of one on a first floor, if there is nerve and cool determination to hold on to the rope or ladder. Don't try to slide down, but go hand over hand, the body near the wall, and break the slide by scraping the feet along the wall.

Bret Harte is so frequently complimented as the author of "Little Breeches" that he is almost as sorry it was written as is Colonel John Hay, who would prefer his fame to rest on more ambitious work. A gushing lady, who prided herself upon her literary tastes said to him once: "My dear Mr Harte, I am so delighted to meet you. I have read everything you wrote, but of all your dialect verse there is none that compares to your 'Little Breeches.'" "I quite agree with you, madam," said Mr. Harte, "but you have put the little breeches on the wrong man."

Will the number of centenarians increase as civilization grows older? The answer can but be in the affirmative. The general tendency is for men to live longer. There is much evidence to show that in the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries men of 70 were considered very aged, and that a man of 80 was a very rare phenomenon. If medical science, sanitation and general obedience to the laws of health continue to improve the gauge of a normal old age may yet rise to 100. Whether that will make mankind either wiser or happier still remains an open question.

Rights Accorded to Women.

After a controversy extending over a period of ten years it was recently decided to admit women to the order of the Catholic Knights of America. The question was settled after a heated discussion by the delegates which met in annual convention at Kansas City, Mo. Although women are granted this privilege under the amended constitution, they are permitted to carry only $1,000 insurance, whereas the men are accorded the right to just double that.

Prize Money for Sailors.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The Court of Claims has decided to make special the claims for bounty of the sailors of Dewey's and Sampson's fleets, and there is every prospect that the men will succeed in getting their money at the present terms. After consultation with the attorneys and with the Judge Advocate General's Office of the Navy Department, the Court has arranged a set of rules which will greatly facilitate the settlement of these claims. The attorneys for the claimant have notified the court officers and the Navy department that they have arranged to collect the claims for a commission of not more than from 10 to 15 per cent., instead of the 50 per cent, commission that was at first demanded in some cases. The commission will not be exacted in all cases, but the attorneys will prosecute those involving difficult or novel features, and, when the decision of the Court is announced, other claimants on the same grounds will secure their money without cost, the Court and the Navy Department simply accepting the judgement as sufficient. To further facilitate action the Court has arranged to try at once all cases connected with the Santiago battles then those with Manila and then the blockade and miscellaneous claims.

Dewey Makes Another Start.

Singapore, Straits Settlement, June 15.—Admiral Dewey landed here yesterday afternoon from the Olympia, which arrived here June 11, and bade farewell to the Governor, Lieutenant Colonel Sir C. V. H. The officers of the Olympia were entertained at dinner Tuesday evening by the officers of the garrison here.

A Monster Piece of Iron.

On a Pennsylvania freight car Tuesday night the Bethlehem Steel company loaded one single piece of armor plate that weighed 112,056 pounds. It is to be used in a Russian battleship which the Cramps are building, and is one of the group of six mammoth pieces for the same ship. The same company also shipped Tuesday night plates for the superstructure of the Alabama to Newport News. They are not so heavy.

A Brakeman's Presence of Mind.

Wednesday, June 14, as a local freight was pulling out of Williamsport for Elmira, Jacob Rissell, a brakeman, while making his descent on a box car, missed his hold. Realizing that if he fell on the track the wheels would run over him, he gave himself a shove and alighted on his back away from the track. His body was badly bruised, but he saved himself from more serious injuries.

THE NEW JUNK LAW.

Wise Restrictions Placed on Dealers in Old Metal, Etc.

An act of the legislature relating to the buying of junk, approved by Governor Stone on May 5, will meet the approval of the public and no doubt be the means of preventing many petty larceny cases before justices of the peace and lessen similar cases in quarter sessions court. It is entitled "An act to punish the buying or receiving of junk, rope, scrap, iron, brass or other metals, from minors, unknown or irresponsible parties." The full text of the law is:

"Be it enacted, etc., That if any person or persons shall, after the passage of this act buy or receive from minors, knowing them to be such, or from persons pursuing no trade, labor or employment for a livelihood, any junk, rope, scrap, iron, brass, lead, copper or other metal, such persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof in a court of quarter sessions of the proper county, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not exceeding $500, or to undergo an imprisonment of not more than one year, or both at the discretion of the court.

Another act on the same line, approved April 11th, provides that no proprietor or employe of a junk shop or second-hand store in cities shall buy any pipe, faucets, boilers, etc., except from licensed plumbers or owners from whose buildings the goods are taken or any second hand goods whatever without keeping books written in the English language and giving details of the transaction, the same to be open to the inspection of police and detectives.

A fine of not less than $20 or more than $500 is provided, in default of which imprisonment for 90 days may be imposed.

Nurse Pleads Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The trial of George Beauregard Barrow for kidnapping Marion Clarke was begun yesterday before Justice Furman, in the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court. At the request of Mr. Howe, Barrow's attorney, Mrs. Barrow will be permitted to sit by the side of her husband during the trial.

Before Barrow's case was called, Abraham Levy asked that his client, Carrie Jones, be called to the bar. She at once entered a plea of guilty by the advice of her counsel. Mr. Levy said that his client was repentent, and would throw herself upon the mercy of the Court. He asked that she be remanded for sentence, and this was done. The girl will be called as a witness against the Barrows.

The work of empaneling a jury for the trial of Barrow and his wife occupied the court until it was too late to begin hearing testimony, and adjournment was taken until to-day.

Total Eclipse of the Moon.

On June 22 there will be a total eclipse of the moon, but we will be excluded from the spectators. The beginning is to be seen in the eastern portions of Asia and throughout the Pacific ocean and the western portions of North America, and the end, in Asia, the eastern portions of Africa, and the middle and western Pacific ocean. At this time the moon is at the full, a new moon happening on the 8th, first quartering on the 16th, and last quartering on the 29th. There are seven planetary conjunctions with the moon: On the 5th a conjunction with Venus; on the 6th, one with Mercury; on the 8th with Neptune, which is the closest for the month. On the 14th the growing crescent comes up with Mars; on the 19th with Jupiter; on the 21st with Uranus, closing on the 22d for the month with a meeting in which Saturn is the star performer.

The moon at the full is so low down in southern declination that on rising it will seem very near and large, and throughout the warm summer evenings will be a beautiful sight in the sky.

MORNING GOWNS.

In the midst of expensive novelties, nothing is more pleasing to the eye than simple morning gowns that are worn for early strolls on the beach or under shade trees. Such dresses cost little as to material and with the aid of good patterns, may readily be made at home. Dimity, gingham, or batiste are eminently appropriate and a most attractive yet inexpensive dress worn by a young matron belonging to New York's Four Hundred, is of figured dimity made with five ruffles around the bottom and an overskirt cut in scallops. The last named could easily be dispensed with and two or three ruffles would give a good finish. The waist is slightly full with arinkled sleeves and yoke of tucked lawn edged by ruffles of the goods.

PIQUE DRESSES

divide favor with Galatea suiting and light weight wool for yachting, of which there is much and white pique gowns trimmed with bands of red on the skirt and a red jacket, and very jaunty for brunettes. Short jackets are the regulating style for such dresses and extremely dainty outfits are in white, either wool or thick cotton, with short jacket opening over a vest of bright colored silk. Such gowns are also utilized for morning walks or drives or other occasions of like character. In there is a very marked preference for point d' esprit that really leads but plain net has much showing nor can any caprice of the hour, hinder appreciation of soft beautiful crepe de chine and mousseline as well, whether in delightful solid shades or high grade floral patterns. In making there is great preference for ruffings on the skirt and while many dresses are low necked, yet thin yokes and sleeves are often times a refuge for girls who lack flesh.

LUCY CARTER.

Barrow's Long Sentence.

NEW YORK, June 17.—George Beauregard Barrow, the principal in the kidnapping of Marion Clarke, the infant daughter of Arthur Clarke, of this city, was yesterday sentenced to fourteen years and ten months' imprisonment. The trial, which was begun on Wednesday, when Bella Anderson, or Carrie Jones, the tool of Barrow and his wife, gave her evidence for the State, was concluded with testimony intended to establish the previous good character of the defendant. The summing up by counsel was very brief, and the case was given to the jury with a few words of instruction from the bench. The jury, after being out about twenty five minutes, rendered a verdict of guilty, and sentence was passed as above stated. Carrie Jones, who pleaded, guilty was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. The trial of Mrs. Barrow as her husband's accomplice will follow.

The term of imprisonment to which Barrow has been condemned is two months less that the maximum penalty prescribed for kidnapping. In the case of Carrie Jones the District Attorney joined in the plea for mercy put forward by her attorney. She will be sent to the prison for women at Auburn.

The date for the trial of Mrs. Barrow has not been fixed.

Don't "Mind the Heat"

To avoid heat prostration dress as lightly as you can, eat sparingly, with plenty of fruit in your diet, keep out of the sun as much as possible, don't overwork, and above all things don't worry or fret about anything. Though you may not know it, one of the easiest and yet the surest ways of keeping cool is to keep a cool and even spirit with you. vexation, anger, discontent or worriment are not to be thought of in such weather if you don't want to "mind the heat."

IT PAYS.

Art pays for itself and pays generously. The Americans spent annually $75,000,000 in European travel. While they do not all go to see the treasures of art in the glorious old galleries, it is yet beyond question that the majority of them do. The cost of the Congressional Library building at Washington was $6,000,000, of which amout $300,000 was expended on the decorations, or 6 per cent. of the whole. It is safe to say that 90 per cent. of the persons who visit that library go there to see the decorations.—From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A New Industry.

The Iron Age sees in the manufacture of automobiles "a promising new industry," which is destined to assume large proportions. Large contracts are being placed. Bicycle makers are adding the construction of automobile carriages to their usual output. The propelling portion of the vehicle is often made elsewhere and "assembled" at the bicycle works.

Recent Inventions.

An automatic toe clip has been designed which grips the foot as soon as pressure is applied by the ball of the foot, the pedal being balanced and having plates hinged at the front and rear, which tilt down of their own weight, the foot throwing them up into position.

Toy fish are made to swim rapidly in a tank by a new mechanical device having a small spring motor under the tank to revolve a pair of magnets in proximity to the under side, the fish being drawn through the water by the attractive force.

Nuts are prevented from turning loose on the bolt by an Ohio man's attachment, consisting of a tongue suspended in a slot on the bolt, with a head at its outer end which rises after the nut is in place and holds it.

An extension table recently patented has a one-piece top for use as a small table, which lifts and discloses a pocket in which two leaves are stored, the combined surface of these being equal to the main top, thus doubling its size.

Artists and reporters will appreciate a new folding supporter for tablets, formed of two stiff covers hinged together, with a brace at the back, which holds them rigid, and a device in which the fingers are inserted to hold it on the hand.

Envelopes can be rapidly dampened and sealed by a new German apparatus, comprising an absorbent pad with a dry surface of similar shape to the flap, a pressure pad being hinged above with a wire gauze face which decreases the spread of the water.

No Right To Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at F. Potts Green's Drug Store.

General Advice.

Do not sweeten fruit juices until after the straining is done; otherwise a part of the sugar will be wasted. It is best to strain very acid juices through coarse linen, cotton or cheese cloth, or an earthen colander, as tin discolors the liquid. Heat the fruit slowly until boiling, then strain, sweeten and heat again very slowly to the boiling point.

—A fine lot of western horses was received a few days ago at the sale and exchange stable of the Larimer Brothers. The horses are all A No. 1 and can be depended on for good service. They were all carefully selected by the Larimer boys and it is a well known fact that there are no better judges of horse flesh in Centre county than just Rush and Will Larimer. —A car load of deer passed through Sunbury the other day for Whetham, in this state. They were shipped by a Lock Haven gun club, of which George Good is president. The car load is from Kansas, and when they started numbered twenty-six. OUR BORO FATHERS.

At the meeting of town council Monday evening President Gerberich presided with the following members present Walkey, Houser, Derstine, Sheffer, Wetzel and Tripple.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Verbal communications were called for and James Harris presented the complaint of Mrs. Teats of East Bishop street in regard to pavement and gutter on property above her, which she claimed was to low causing water to back up on her property. He also asked council to take some action in regard to repairing Pike alley. It needs draining and other repairs. He offered to pay part of the expense.

G. W. Reese appeared before council to ask that Spring Creek from High street bridge to the Spring be cleaned. It is in a very bad condition and is an eyesore to the boro.

H. C. Quigley Esq., secretary of the board of health requested council to grant them the usual appropriation of $100.00 for the year 1899. A reference to the minutes showed that this appropriation had been granted at a previous meeting but through some oversight it had been forgotten.

J. C. Meyer Esq., was next in order. He appeared before council to again complain of the barb wire fence along the property of Robert Valentine on Curtin street. He quoted law to show that the boro had a right to remove the barb wire fence. It is a nuisance and menace to life and limb and should be removed. It was decided that council should remove barb wire and put a plain wire fence in its place.

In regard to paving High street between Court House and Jackson, Hastings & Co's. bank, the committee reported progress.

The complaint of Mrs. Teats was referred to street committee with power to act.

The request of Mr. Harris in regard to Pike alley was referred to Street committee for investigation and report at next meeting.

It was moved by Mr. Sheffer seconded by Mr. Houser that the creek from Spring Creek bridge to big Spring be cleaned by Water committee at expense of boro. It was so ordered.

Wetzel moved seconded by Derstine that the Central Railroad be exonerated from the tax on the water used for their engines for the year 1899. The ayes and nayes were called for resulting as follows: Ayes 4 Nays 3. The ayes having a majority the motion was declared carried.

MRS. MARGARET BROCKERHOFF

Passed Away at Her Home On Bishop street Thursday Afternoon.

On Thursday afternoon at half past four the angel of death entered the Brockerhoff home on East Bishop street and took hence the spirit of Mrs. Margaret C. Brockerhoff, widow of the late Henry Brockerhoff, of this place.

The death of Mrs. Brockerhoff at this time was not wholly unexpected for she had been in failing health for the past three months. The cause of death was hemorrhages of the brain.

In the death of this kindly christian lady the community has sustained a heavy loss for she was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. To the poor of this town she has been a ministering angel and many deeds of charity can be traced to her, although her motto was "never let the right hand know what the left hand doeth." Every week it is said she would send out large orders of groceries in addition to other methods of giving.

She was a devout member of St. John's Catholic church of Bellefonte and took an active interest devoting a great deal of her means and time to church work.

The deceased was born in Bellefonte 68 years ago and has spent all her life time here. She was the daughter of Felix Mullen, and on the 19th of November, 1849, she was married to Henry Brockerhoff who during his lifetime was one of Bellefonte's wealthiest and most influential citizens. Her husband preceded her to the grave on the 6th of October, 1878, at the age of 84 years.

She is survived by four children, Mary and Henry, of Bellefonte; Andrew, of Reading and Dr. Joseph, of Pittsburg. Two brothers, Dr. John H. Mullen, of this place and Frank Mullen, of Reynoldsville.

With beautiful and impressive ceremonies befitting the exalted position she occupied in the hearts of the people of this town, and the esteem with which she was regarded, the body was tenderly laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery at this place Monday morning.

At quarter past ten the relatives left the late residence of the deceased on Bishop street and proceeded to St. John's Catholic church where the ceremonies were held. The church was already filled with the friends, neighbors and acquaintances of the deceased, all anxious to pay this last tribute of respect to this kindly christian woman.

The requiem mass for the repose of the soul was said by Rev. P. McArdle, pastor of the church, who also spoke very eloquently of the many good qualities of the departed one. Many beautiful floral tributes were received.

The honorary pall-bearers were Messrs. Monroe Armor, Dr. James H. Dobbins, James Harris, John I. Potter, Thad. Hamilton, W. W. Montgomery, Isaac Mitchell, all of this place, and Patrick McCafferty, of Lock Haven.

The active pall-bearers were Messrs Thomas Howley, Wm. Kelly, C. M. Parrish, V. J. Bauer, Edward Brown, Jr., Philip Beezer. John Bauer and Joseph Ceaders.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Simpson, Miss Simpson, Wm. A. Simpson, Jr., Miss Beatrice Welden, all of Lock Haven; Mrs. George S. Strong, New York City; Mrs. Robert I. Fleming, Brookville, Pa., Mrs. Lauth, Mrs Lou Comerford, Howard, Pa.; Miss Wade Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Wilson, Milesburg; Cameron Burnside, Philadelphia, and Frank Mullen, of Reynoldsville.

IN MEMORIAM.

A Touching Tribute to the Memory of the Late Mrs. Margaret C. Brockerhoff.

"How tenderly I think to-night
Of her whose head is crowned with light
And perfect peace above;
How yearns my heart to speak her praise,
To tell of all her gracious ways,
Her silent acts of love.

But who can tell of all her worth;
Or estimate the gain of earth
From her sweet sojourn here?
We only know her life was blest,
That she has entered into rest
And left us weeping here.

"How can I sing a song so high
When bitter tear drops fill my eye,
And sorrow's knell doth ring.
'Tis this, that through my tears I see
Her dear face smiling down on me—
I cannot choose but sing.

She soothed the weary hearts that bled
The mourning ones she comforted
With gentle sympathy;
She made the sunlight seem more bright
Her gentle truth illumined night,
A smile of God was she."

DANIEL SNYDER MICHTLEY.

Died Tuesday Afternoon at 2 o'clock of Catarrh of the Stomach.

Daniel Snyder Michtley an honored and respected citizen of our town, passed away Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home on Water street. The deceased had been ailing for several months with catarrh of the stomach and his death at this time was not unexpected. He died surrounded by a loving wife and daughter and son-in-law, who did everything in their power to alleviate his sufferings and make his last hours on earth as pleasant as possible.

Daniel Michtley was well known as an honest and upright citizen and enjoyed in a marked degree the confidence and esteem of the people of Bellefonte. He was a stone mason by trade and his work always spoke for itself. Those he worked for had the utmost confidence in him, knowing that what he did would be done right.

He was born at Hublersburg, December 25th 1836 and was aged 62 years, 5 months and 26 days. He was a son of Frederick Michtley. Dec. 1st 1863 he married Miss Susan Teats, at her home in Hublersburg. For the past nineteen years he has resided in Bellefonte. A conscientious christian gentleman he has been and for many years was a faithful member of the Evangelical church of this place.

There survives to mourn the loss of this loving husband and father, a wife and one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Finkbinder, of this place; a brother, Ira Michtley, of Snyertown, and a sister, Mary, wife of Wm. Kauffman, of Nittany Valley.

The funeral will take place this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Evangelical church. Interment in the Union cemetery.

An Exciting Runaway.

Tuesday afternoon those in the vicinity of the Bush house witnessed one of the most thrilling runaways that has occurred in this town for many a day. A two horse carriage driven by Walter Gray, a Philipsburg traveling man, dashed madly out of Jesse Cox's livery stable; across High street they ran scattering people in every direction, and on out Dunlop street, finally plunging headlong into Spring Creek dam.

The driver Walter Gray stuck pluckily to the lines. At the corner of the Republican office the wheels of the carriage struck a telephone pole with terrific force.

Just as the runaway team reached the creek they struck a stump and the tongue broke releasing the maddened horses from the carriage. The horses at once plunged into mid-stream and were in danger of sinking into the mud and drowning. Jacob Meese and Wm Hogarth at once waded into the stream and by hard work succeeded in saving the horses without injury.

Mr. Gray can consider himself lucky that he escaped as easy as he did. He was uninjured and $5.00 will repair all the damage done.

One of the horses was owned by Mr. Gray and was formerly the property of Herbert Sheffer of this place, while the other a sorrel was the property of Harry Todd, of Philipsburg and had just been purchased that morning from Benjamin Gentzel, of this place.

The cause of the runaway is believed to have been due to the fact that the new horse had been driven heretofore with blinds but on this occasion was hitched up without them. Not being used to this the high spirited horse became frightened and the result was a runaway.
